Treatment plant approval seen

Francis Mayo, administrative head of the regional office of the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency at Chicago, has given assurances that 75% grant for construction of Granite City's proposed $10,800,000 secondary sewage treatment plant will be approved, it was learned here today.

Such assurances were reported by Cong. Man Price (D-East St. Louis) at Washington who said he was told in a telephone conversation with Mayo that the city's grant application will be approved.

Mayor Paul Schuler said he was informed of the "good news" by Cong. Price.

"This puts us in the position of appealing to Springfield for 5% of the plant cost in state funds," Schuler said, noting that the state two years ago approved a $750 million bond issue to participate in water pollution control projects.

At the time plans were begun for construction of the secondary treatment plant, grants were made on the basis of 55% by the federal government and 25% by the state, leaving the city's share at 20% of the cost. Since that time grants for anti-water pollution projects have been changed to 75% in federal money and none from the state, Schuler said he believes that once the federal grant is approved, "we still may be able to get the other 25% from the state and keep our cost at 20%."

Mayo could not be reached today for confirmation of the grant approval.

Schuler said the report of Mayo's assurances of the grant was received from Cong. Price after Horace Calvo, Granite City attorney, and Nelson Hagauer, supervisor of Granite City Township and chairman of the Madison County Board, contacted the congressman to ask his aid in supporting Granite City's application for the 75% federal grant.

Hagauer is a proponent of the four-township sewer program in which collector sanitary sewers and interceptor lines would be built to serve Venice, Nameoki and Chouteau Township users, with sewage treated at the Granite City plant. Calvo is special bond attorney for the treatment plant project.

Mayor Schuler, accompanied by other representatives from here, personally delivered Granite City's grant application to the Chicago EPA office a week ago and was told at that time that a decision on the grant request could be expected within a week.

Main plans jell

Granite City's downtown mall proposal will be finalized and presented to the Madison County Board of Local Improvements within a matter of weeks, Mayor Paul Schuler told the City Council Monday night.

The last major step in planning procedure will be the approval of an ordinance authorizing the Board of Local Improvements, which has developed the mall project, to petition the circuit court for approval of the mall plans and authority to issue special assessment bonds to finance the construction.

That ordinance will be submitted to the council in its regular meeting Monday night, the mayor said.

Once it is passed, the way will be cleared for preparation of the court petition cutting legal procedures followed by the city and by the local improvements board in development of construction plans and methods of financing. Schuler said a detailed study of property appraisals upon which a special assessment charges will be based has been completed by Casper Nighobosian, who was appointed in early May as city condemnation attorney, a newly created post.

Appraisal of the 85 parcels of property located within and adjacent to the mall area was prepared for the city by the firm of P. J. Berry Co. of Clayton, Mo., an accounting and appraisal firm.

The mayor's announcement that the mall project is nearing its decisive stage followed enactment of an ordinance amending the city code under which the Board of Local Improvements is established.

The amendment provides that the Board of Local Improvements shall consist of the mayor, the city street superintendent and the city engineer. The improvements board has included the Senators vote half-cent cut in sales tax

By a 55-2 vote Tuesday, the Illinois Senate approved cutting the state portion of the sales tax from 4 cents to 3½ cents on the dollar. The bill next went to the House of Representatives, where more substantial opposition has developed.

House Speaker W. Robert Blair has been predicting a favorable vote and a Jan. 1, 1974, effective date. Under Blair's plan, the sales tax would be raised back to 4 cents immediately in Cook, Lake, DuPage, Will, Kane and McHenry counties to help pay for a regional mass transit system.

Way found to close massage parlor long defended as legal

"You can't touch the place. It's legal."

This kind of advice kept Madison officials relatively inactive this year in regard to operation of a massage parlor, the Quad-City Health System, located on the second floor above a Second Street tavern.

But an investigation by the Press-Record Tuesday appeared to start a chain of events which ended in closing of the establishment yesterday and arrest of the proprietor, Louis E. McCoy, 37, of 1006 Greenwood St.

McCoy had become active in civic groups and seemed to enjoy near-immunity from action by government. Nevertheless, an investigation was started by Madison authorities several months ago and is continuing. Federal interest also has developed.

The city license he had obtained, for a "recreation and health" enterprise, was seized at 3:30 p.m. Wednesday on an order by Mayor Mike Sayk.

McCoy was charged with a violation of the assumed Name Act. He was served a summons to appear at 9:30 a.m. June 29 to answer the charge.

The arrest warrant alleges that he has not filed with Madison County the name under which the business is operated and the name or names of those owning or conducting the business.

Mayor Sayk said the city meanwhile will look into possible expansion of its law regulating health spas. This could include a listing of the types of equipment that an establishment would have to provide in order to qualify for a city license.

The Quad-City Health System has advertised in St. Louis that it offers Swedish and Oriental massages, steam baths and exercise equipment.

Potential customers were greeted Tuesday by a sign on the door leading upstairs saying, "Yes, we're open." At the top of a long staircase, customers were directed to make two left turns by arrows bearing the firm's name.

They then were greeted by a locked door bearing the phrase "Come In" and "Please Knock." Answering the knock was a young lady who greeted customers and ushered them into the office. In this room, another young lady behind a desk asked if each customer would like a massage.

She explained the cost was $12 for a Swedish massage with hands or $15 for an Oriental massage in which one of the ladies uses her feet.

"The foot massage is usually for men 300 pounds or more who need 't-e extra pressure,'" she said.

A steam bath was also available for $3, making the price of a Swedish massage and steam bath $15, she added.

Another doorway led off to the right from the office. After visits, the front door was quickly locked behind the departing customers.

After some information on the operation was obtained Tuesday, the Madison City Council cleared the way Monday night for the city's participation in its first federal-sponsored top project program calling for construction of safety improvements at four major intersections on Madison Avenue.

Mayor Paul Schuler informed the aldermen that plans and a map for the federal grants to finance the work have been completed by Harland Bartholomew & Associates, St. Louis planning engineers, and that agreements for the work with the State Department of Transportation are ready to be signed.

The Topics program (Traffic Operation Program to Improve the Capacity and Safety) of city streets provides 50% of the cost in federal funds. The program is administered by the state and permits cities to use motor fuel tax funds as matching shares.

The program provides for expanding the intersections and revising traffic signal systems on Madison Avenue at 20th, 23rd and 27th streets and on Madison Avenue at Niedringhaus Avenue. The work will include expansion of the intersection area, relocation of curb lines and improved signal light coordination.

Interstate 270 improvements here totaling $1,467,000 and two inside-the-Quad-Cities projects were part of the July 1973-June 1974 state highway program announced Tuesday by Gov. Danie Walker.

The $224 million statewide listing included $400,000 for extension of Federal Aid Road 151 (Great River Road) south from Niedringhaus Avenue, Granite City, toward Broadway, Venice.

And it provided $84,000 for improvement of the Nameoki Road (Route 233) intersection with Johnson and Fehling Roads, Granite City.

This highway district, No. Eight, also is to carry out miscellaneous non-interstate projects totaling $2,553,000, including $556,000 for intersection improvements at 19 locations, $346,000 for district-wide skid proofing of roads, $338,000 for slope stabilization, $290,000 for traffic signals at seven locations and $238,000 for district-wide traffic signals.

The miscellaneous category also shows $175,000 for signing at six intersections, $133,000 to remove a structure, $110,000 for low-cost traffic improvement and $100,000 for culvert widening throughout the district.

An allocation of $55,000 for a culvert extension and slope stabilization project is included, plus $54,000 for junkyard control at four locations, $25,000 for termoplastic pavement marking, $15,000 for sign modernization and maintenance and six other listings ranging down to $4,000 for signals at a lift bridge.

Madison County is omitted from the 1973-74 bond-financed supplemental freeway program announced by the governor.

Non-interstate projects other than these referred to include such items as $3,400,000 for four-lane paving of the Bertr Highway from Henry Street in Alton to Route 738 at Wood Dunbar and Blair schools, the only West Madison and North Walker schools only black students have all black enrollments. All other schools in Madison District 12 have mixed enrollments.

"In the special meeting, the board was planning to phase out the fourth, fifth and sixth grades at Dunbar, transfer them all to other schools and close Dunbar."

"The reason for this is obvious—so they don't have to bus white students into West Madison. Blair would still maintain all black," Kemp said.

His resignation leaves Willie Walker the only black on the seven-member board. At the start of the year, the board had three black members, Walker, Kemp and Sherrell Byrd. Byrd was defeated in April by Donald Beyer's election.

Other school officials have described the physical condition of the Dunbar building as looming large in their uncertainty about the future.

The district is caught in a financial squeeze and estimates that Dunbar building repairment would cost $1.5 million, a figure which would be a financial burden for the district.

Heavy rains and high winds that reached velocities up to 70 miles an hour in some areas flooded streets, uprooted trees and caused some property damage in the Quad-City area Monday night.

Falling limbs and trees knocked down power lines resulting in power outages in several sections of the area. A severe electrical storm accompanied the wind and rain, knocking out one circuit in the 22nd and Adams street substation of Illinois Power Co.

Several hundred customers on that circuit were without power for an hour and 20 minutes, the longest period in which any one circuit was out of operation.

Falling limbs knocked down many individual residential lines.

A power company spokesman said work crews totaling 15 men worked until about 3 a.m. to repair the

Venice schools see urgent fund needs

By DONNA HARTWICK
Press-Record Staff Writer

Approval of the voters in Venice School District 3 of a tax rate increase of $1.20 per $100 assessed valuation for the education fund, set for Saturday, June 30, by the Venice Board of Education, is vital to the financial stability of the education fund budget, school officials reported at a board meeting Monday night.

The tax rate increase, that would boost the overall school tax rate to a maximum of $4.05, is necessary because of a continuing drop in assessed valuation, increased costs and the financial condition of the district that is now in debt by more than $600,000.

Should the voters defeat the tax increase, another election would be held within 60 days, the board members said.

Without increased revenue, the only alternative for the district would be to merge with another school district in the area as a last resort.

Larry Hartman, school attorney, noted that the district last approved an education fund rate increase of 40 cents in 1969 when that amount was the legal limit for a single increase. Because of the subsequent drop in valuation, the amount of taxes now being collected totals $669,744, while in 1969 the $2.05 maximum education rate produced $730,377, he added.

The $3.25 new education rate would provide $1,061,837 in taxes, but $773,000 of the total amount would go for salaries.

There are outstanding tax anticipation warrants of $300,000, outstanding working cash funds bonds of $269,000 and other expenses of $137,000.

Polls will be open on June 30 from noon to 7 p.m. at the Venice public school and at an Eagle Park Acres polling place.

Miss Irene Hackett, president of the Federation of Teachers, requested the board consider the hiring of faculty members no later than June 30.

The main considerations for re-hiring teachers would involve seniority of the individual in the school district and qualifications for a specific grade level, as well as the position of a teaching certificate.

Miss Hackett also asked the board for guidelines they wish to follow in making the final selection of teachers for the 1973-74 school year, adding that in her opinion, if there are two qualified persons and only one is a member of the teachers union, the union member should be given priority.

The board agreed to consider her recommendations at a special meeting set for Monday at 7:30 p.m. specifically called to discuss the fate of the Venice Lincoln Technical Center in the event that federal funding is not received in time to

HERE THEY COME! Youths in a bike riding marathon approach the Nelson King home at 8 Frontenac Lane, where others involved in a project to raise funds to help equip members of the newly-formed Granite City High School Hockey Club await their arrival. Riders, Jol King, left, and Scott Mullen, are passing a hat which has been kept moving 24 hours a day for the past nine days.

Marathon bike riders pedal into 10th day

For 216 consecutive hours at noon today, about a dozen youths have been pedaling around a residential block in relays of two or more riders without stopping.

The bike riding marathon, taking place on Frontenac and Devon Hill lanes, near Johnson Road, passed the nine-day mark at noon.

The youths are trying to break a record of 17 consecutive days riding around a block and collect funds to help defray expenses of equipping members of a newly formed Granite City High School Hockey Club.

Most of the bike riders hope to play with the team when the local high school adds hockey to its sports agenda this fall.

The long-distance ordeal has not faltered despite torrential rain and gale force winds on at least two occasions. Mrs. Betty King, the mother of four participants, said today.

"During a brief period of hail the other night, the boys kept going, but commented that it really stung," Mrs. King said.

Mishaps so far have been minor—just a couple of broken bicycle chains and some flat tires, she reported. Most of the meals are being consumed at the King home, 8 Frontenac Lane, where the boys also sleep in shifts.

Food bills and cooking time have increased considerably since her temporary boarders arrived, Mrs. King added.

City will pay $32,235 to end Louis Mank case

Granite City Council members voted Monday night to approve settlement of a circuit court case brought against the city by Louis Mank, a former police officer.

The settlement will cost the city a total of $32,235, including a $29,774 judgment ordered by the court in April, plus interest and additional charges incurred since that time.

Decision to pay the obligation followed an order by the Fifth District Appellate Court dismissing a city motion for appeal of the $29,774 judgment order entered in August 1972 on grounds that the city failed to perfect its appeal record within the time designated by law.

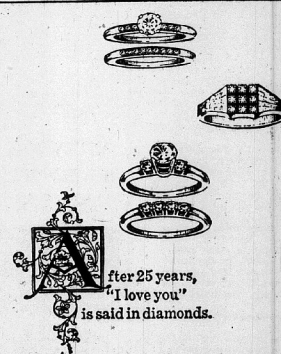

In December 1969, Mank was relieved of duty as a police officer by the Board of Fire and Police Commissioners following a board hearing on 13 charges.

Mank appealed the board order to the circuit court which reversed the police board and ordered Mank reinstated on the police force. The board refused to do so and appealed the circuit court ruling to the Appellate Court.

The Appellate court ruled out 11 of the 13 charges originally placed against Mank and held that the police board could order a retrial on the remaining two charges, which was not done. In August 1972, Mank filed suit against the city for back pay and all other benefits of regular duty police officers, resulting in the $29,774 judgment against the city.

The city filed a motion to appeal, but according to the Appellate Court order failed to supply the proper records and otherwise complete appeal procedure.

Committees have been active in the Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce this year and summaries of some of their programs were related to a gathering of 150 members last night at Temple's Smorgasbord.

Progress is being made in efforts by the city, Chamber and others to secure a Downtown Granite City mall, it was noted during a question-and-answer period following the verbal reports.

Also advancing are efforts to improve traffic controls and reports.

GC Steel pollution hearings postponed

A hearing on a request by Granite City Steel Co. to prohibit the Granite City Air Pollution Control Board from enjoining the company was postponed today for a change of venue.

The circuit court hearing was scheduled tomorrow in Edwardsville but James Thebe, attorney for the city, said the hearing now will be held in July or later.

The city air board filed charges against GC Steel in March and established public hearing dates. The company in turn filed the counter motion requesting a writ of prohibition to stop the city from holding the hearings.

The hearing on the city's pollution charges can not be held until the company's motion is resolved.

"Their willingness to serve as co-chairmen of the Industrial Division is an example of the fact that the new campaign has the active backing of labor and management as well as all other segments of this community," General Chairman William F. Winter commented.

Boyd has been active in the local area for a number of years and was a candidate for mayor of Granite City in the primary and general elections four years ago.

He has served as a member of the City Council for more than ten years. He is one of the two aldermen of the Third Ward.

Boyd, a lifelong Granite City resident who served in the Navy from 1950 to 1954, has been active in such groups as the Emerson PTA, American Legion, Moose, Veterans of Foreign Wars, First Presbyterian Church and Tri-City Trades and Labor Council.

A past president of Steelworkers Local 67, he has served in many fund drives and in numerous labor and municipal programs and leadership positions.

Boyd also has been the United Steelworkers' educational coordinator with Southern Illinois University and the University of Illinois.

Officers of Trades Council renominated

Incumbent officers of the Tri-City Trades and Labor Council were nominated for new one-year terms without opposition in a meeting Wednesday night at the Labor Temple.

Only exception was the nomination of Robert McCormick of the State, County and Municipal Employees Union who will serve as recording secretary in the place of Don Parente who was appointed as Granite City fire chief in early May.

The new terms go to Edwin F. J. Reiske, president; Robert Walkenbach, vice-president; of United Steelworkers local 4984; McCormick; Helen Peters, financial secretary; business representative of local 461 of the Cooks and Waiters union.

James Arnette, treasurer, of United Steelworkers local 30; George Gagas, sentinel, of local 120 of the Painters Union; Mitchell Aramowicz, guide, of United Steelworkers local 1063; and Marshall Testerman, local 389 of the Laborers Union, and George Amish, Illinois Federation of Teachers, as trustees.

Pelise, a full-time representative of the AFL-CIO, will serve his 2nd consecutive term as president of the council. Members of the council also decided to survey its 58 affiliate unions to determine if they favor plans for a Labor Day parade this year.

A plan to microfilm records of the council, which date back to 1898, also was discussed. Reiske said he plans to contact

Fire destroys boxcar; pumper in accident

Venice firemen responded to a report of a boxcar on fire on the Illinois Terminal Railroad tracks beside Route 203 near the flood gate at 1:10 p.m. yesterday. They were unable to halt the fire, partially due to the contents of the boxcar, a load of paper.

While returning to the fire station, the pumper truck reportedly struck a car near Eagle Park Acres and ended in a ditch, mired in mud. Firemen used the department's rescue truck to pull the large pumper free.

The trucks returned to the fire station at 5:10 p.m.

Madison to enforce ban on open burning in city

Additional trash collection services will be necessary in Madison because of complaints by agents of the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency of open burning by Madison residents, Mayor Mike Sasyk informed the City Council in a regular meeting Tuesday night.

Sasyk said that ERA representatives had conferred with him to seek compliance with state regulations against open burning and that the city has no other choice but to enforce the state law.

The mayor noted that such enforcement will entail additional collection services to pick up trash and debris that otherwise would be burned. Sasyk said the purchase of an additional street department truck and employment of three men probably will be necessary.

Mayor Sasyk also informed the council that negotiations have been under way with representatives of a manufacturing plant that wishes to locate in the Stephen Maerz Industrial Park, but that so far the city cannot meet a demand to supply natural gas.

"The power company has been most helpful and has done everything possible to convince the management that electricity would be cheaper, but they still insist on gas," the mayor said.

He did not identify the company which whom negotiations are continuing, and said he is hopeful the matter can be resolved.

He said the plant would employ about 115 persons.

Third Ward Alderman Raymond Kozielek informed the council he had received complaints that a Madison business firm had been burning refuse and asked that the city inspect the plant.

Christ Costoff, Fourth Ward alderman, said he had received complaints of groups of young people congregating in the parking lot of a Madison drive-in, as well as repeated complaints of speeding on Madison Avenue.

Mayor Sasyk instructed Ed Ray Dubish, president of the Board of Police Commissioners, to have police check out both complaints by Costoff and to take action against speeders. Mike Etkin, alderman of the Fourth Ward, demanded that action be taken on condemned buildings in his ward. Mayor Sasyk assured him immediate steps would be taken and referred the matter to the legal department and building inspector.

The council approved $24,169.46 in city bills between June 5 and June 19 to be paid from the general fund and transferred $2,500 from the general fund to the playground and recreation department.

"The mayor announced that he is taking a two-week vacation, but that during this time he will work on the budget and will be in his office occasionally and if anyone has an emergency problem they could get in touch with him."

Demolition underway at Larry Building

Demolition of the Larry Building, 1800 Edwards, was under way Wednesday with the work being conducted by the L. Wolf Co.

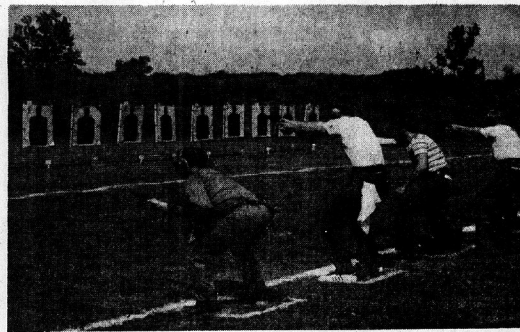

The property will be used by the First Granite City National Bank, which obtained a city permit to raze the structure, for expansion of its drive-in banking facilities and for rearrangement of its parking lot. Plans for the development are to be completed soon, a bank spokesman said.

The building formerly housed the United Fund office, Granite City Diamond Jubilee headquarters, the Leaders Real Estate and Insurance Agency, the Holiday Service Travel Agency and other businesses and agencies.

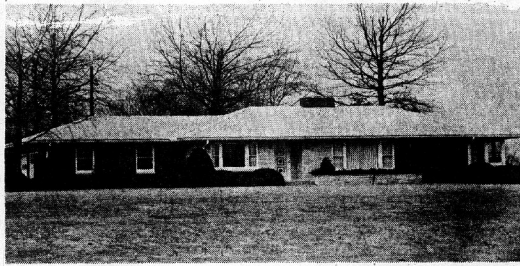

Arnold HC, 25, dies; brother of George resident

Funeral services will be held Friday morning in St. Philip Catholic Church in East St. Louis for Arnold "Bud" Hoke 54, of East St. Louis, brother of William Hoke of Granite City, Minn. Hoke died Tuesday at 11:35 a.m. in Centerville Township Hospital after an illness of one year.

He also leaves his widow, a son, two other brothers, two sisters, his mother and four grandchildren. He recently retired as a machinist at Monsanto Chemical Co.

ERNEST TOSOVSKY home on St. Louis Road, Edwardsville, being purchased by the SIU Foundation for $35,000. The property was appraised at $81,000 for the land and $40,000 for the house. The remaining $86,000 is a gift from the nurseryman and his wife.

MORE ABOUT Mail

The Southern Illinois University Foundation has voted to buy the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest E. Tosovsky, St. Louis Road, Edwardsville.

The residence will be used to house foundation offices and for conferences and workshops.

Independent appraisers valued the land upon which the dwelling is situated at $81,000 and the house at $40,000. The foundation will pay the Tosovskys $35,000; the remaining $86,000 is a gift from the local nurseryman and his wife.

The university is scheduled to get possession of the property in August when the Tosovskys move into a new home they are building in the ESIC subdivision.

Long supporters of SIUE, the Tosovskys were among the first to sell part of their property to the university in 1958, and they also donated generously to the 2,600-acre site fund drive.

Tosovsky, a member of the SIU Foundation board, said he appreciated the opportunity this country had given him. "I came here from Austria-Hungary in 1933 with my mother. I only finished the eighth grade, but I am glad to do what I can to see that others receive a college education. As long as I live, I will always be interested in SIU—both at Edwardsville and Carbondale."

A colonel in the Czech army and an escaped political prisoner, Ernest's father, John Tosovsky, had been smuggled to the U. S. by Czech sympathizers. In September, 1933, he found himself in Edwardsville where a job in the East Side coal mine had been obtained for him.

Three days later, the senior Tosovsky and another man were killed in a mine accident. Six-year-old Ernest Tosovsky reached Edwardsville without knowing about the mine tragedy. Czech friends helped them. The boy entered Central Grove rural school, graduating from the eighth grade when he was 13. His only other formal education included correspondence courses from Brown Business College in Peoria where he completed work in business management and typing.

Tosovsky became an American citizen in 1923 and that year started a small local nursery. Today, it is one of the largest wholesale nurseries out-lets in the country.

I. H. Horatio Alger Jr., Charles Schweizer, associate director of the SIU Foundation, said in summing up Tosovsky's career.

Effimoff, Leskera win tennis meet

Jim Effimoff of Granite City and Jay Leskera of Collinsville became the top-seeded 12-and-under doubles team in the Metro-East Tennis Association with their first-place win in the Belleville tournament this week.

Leskera and Effimoff defeated the previously top-seeded players, Dave Beckman and Darrell Smith, of Belleville, 6-3, 1-6, 6-4.

The association is open to residents of Madison, Monroe, Clinton, St. Clair and Washington Counties. All play is under United States Lawn Tennis Association rules, and the series of tournaments this summer will use a ranking system based on accumulated points similar to world championship tennis.

Jay is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Leskera of Collinsville and Jim is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Vasil Effimoff, 2800 Michigan Ave.

Checkerboard Squares take dancing vacation

Fifty-two members of the Checkerboard Squares and parents are on a square dance vacation this week at the Kaptana Beach resort in Osaage Beach, Mo.

The group will dance at the 19th annual Heart of America Festival set Friday and Saturday at Camden, Mo. The youths are conducting dance classes, work shops and exhibitions under the direction of Shelly Boyd.

She was invited to help inaugurate a June week of square dancing for youths at the resort.

Marianne Garino is head of the hospitality committee and social hours, and Keith Goff is in charge of sound equipment and is taking a turn in calling squares.

Francesca Anselmo held her own round dance work shop to the tune of "Alley Cat." Francesca Anselmo was on the microphone calling squares. Karen Goff, the newest caller-trainee in the group, made her first public appearance. Monte Jones is assisting Miss Boyd.

The Checkerboards plan a repeat performance at the Sacred Heart of Jesus Polish National Catholic Church of Madison later this summer.

On the trip are Mr. and Mrs. Gene Goff and Karen, Keith and Kathy, Mary K. and Jeff Heller, Debbie Sumpter, Vivian recade is now being planned by the engineering firm, with about 65% of the square reering work completed. That job will be done as a separate project.

The council Monday night approved a motion referring the state-city agreements for the Madison Avenue improvements to the city attorney for examination, and authorized Mayor Schuler to sign the agreements if they are approved by the city attorney.

In a separate action, the council enacted an ordinance appropriating $20,000 in motor fuel tax funds as the initial payment of the city's share of the Madison Avenue projects.

Another ordinance regulating drainage into stormwater lines serving the four Madison Avenue intersections, making it unlawful for anyone to connect a sanitary sewer line to the stormwater sewers, also was enacted.

A resolution also was passed dedicating right-of-way along Madison Avenue to the project. That resolution also prohibits encroachments of the right-of-way lines.

Pending a call for bids, cost estimates of the work were not given. Preliminary studies of the project earlier this year listed an approximate cost of $185,000 for the Madison Avenue work and $83,500 for the Nameoki Road improvement at Johnson and Pabst roads.

Council members also approved ordinances annexing to Granite City lots 172 in Dream Villa Addition No. 5, and lot 10 and adjacent Ferguson Avenue in block 12 of Belleville Place. Mayor Schuler announced the appointment of Casmer Skubish as inspector of damages to Granite City sanitary and stormwater sewer lines which are to be repaired by Finis Ernest, Inc. under a contract awarded by the council a week ago.

The mayor also appointed Theodore Macias as acting technical secretary of the Granite City Air Pollution Control Board during the summer absence of Prof. Erwin Hoelscher, and William Smith as city plumbing inspector.

Mercer to play Troy. Vans during weekend

Mercer Funeral Home will play Troy at 8 p.m. today at the Pierron diamond to kick off a weekend of Inter-City Baseball League action.

The local team then will travel to East Alton to meet Van's at 2 p.m. Sunday in Van-preter Park.

It will be the first meeting of the season between Mercer, which shows a 3-2 record, and Troy, which is 5-2. Mercer handed Van's its only loss in an earlier game.

According to Wendell Corey, manager, "These two are the best teams in the league, but we have a good team, too. This week we will find out whether we will be able to compete with them in the league."

Starting pitchers for tonight will either be Vic Reznack (2-1) or Ron Laws. On Sunday Corey will start either Mark Bone, a newly acquired player, or Ron Laws. Backing them up is reliever Pat Harris, who is "one of the best relievers in the league, probably the best," according to Corey.

Corey also will depend on leading hitters Steve Schardan, catcher, and Dave Huddleston, utility player, to produce some runs to defeat both teams.

St. Mary's Boosters had planned to make up a rained out game with Highland-Pierron tomorrow night, but that game was rescheduled for July 13 because of a league meeting conflict. The Boosters have an open date Sunday.

Other Inter-City action will pair Roxana and Mollitor Motors at 8 p.m. today while at 2 p.m. Sunday it will be Mollitor at Glen Carbon, Roxana at Highland-Pierron and Piasa at Troy.

A HAPPY ENDING to Tuesday night's motorcycle racing at Tri-City Speedway for Mike Gerald, Baton Rouge, La., as he won the feature race and was greeted in the winner's circle by Miss Tri-City Speedway, Cherie Rae, left, Referee Bill Magurny and Judy Korn, a cycle racing buff, right. Gerald swept every event he entered during the night except the semi-feature in which he fell while leading, remounted his cycle and still finished second.

Gerald edges Seale in cycle competition

The battle for the eventual crown of short track motorcycle racing continued Tuesday night as Mike Gerald, Baton Rouge, La., and Charles Seale, Laniana, La., defeated a highly-regarded field of riders at Tri-City Speedway.

Gerald, back on the track for the first time since having been defeated by Al Steele of Alton during the 1973 season opener two weeks ago, toured the quarter-mile dirt oval in 15.59 seconds during time trials to take fourth fastest.

Seale paced the field of qualifiers with a time of 15.14 seconds.

Defending track champion Robert E. Lee, Fort Worth, Tex., back on the circuit after having been sidelined with injuries in an accident near Flint, Mich., posted second fastest time with a one-lap run of 15.43 seconds.

Seale jumped into the lead at the start and held it for two laps before being passed by Gerald. The latter appeared to be the sure winner until the last lap when, coming out of the fourth turn, Seale powered past him for the win.

Both riders captured their heat events, Seale crossing the line ahead of New Mexico's Mike Collins and Gerald then defeating second-place finisher William Boyd, Farmer City, Ill.

In the trophy dash, Gerald led the four-lap event from start to finish, with Seale and Al Steele second and third at the finish.

As the green flag fell for the last event which would decide the overall victory, the 12-lap main event, Lee was desperately seeking a win after capturing the second heat and being scooped from the trophy dash due to mechanical problems.

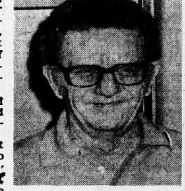

Lee charged into the lead, Mike Gerald, Seale and Steele right behind.

Lee and Gerald stuck together as one through the corners and down the straight for five laps. Gerald took the lead on the sixth lap and Seale moved into the second spot in hot pursuit.

At the checkered flag, it was Yamaha rider Gerald first, Seale second, Lee third and Steele fourth.

 Other winners were: Chapple, 3rd heat; Fred Smith, 5th heat; Stan Johnson, 6th heat; and W. Boyd, third semi-event.

Gerald will be matched head to head with Seale, Lee and other top riders from around the nation when cycle racing resumes next Tuesday at Tri-City Speedway, with time trials at 7 p.m. and racing to begin at 8 p.m.

MR. AND MRS. JOHN M. BOZZARDI. They were united in marriage at St. John Evangelical United Church of Christ in Collinsville. She is the former Miss Darlene Rutherford, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. Arnold Rutherford, 4035 Garden Lane.

Darlene Rutherford wed in candlelight ceremony

Miss Darlene Rutherford, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. Arnold Rutherford, 4035 Garden Lane, and John M. Bozzardi, a son of Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Bozzardi, 851 Summit St., Collinsville, exchanged wedding vows June 9 in a double ring ceremony at St. John Evangelical United Church of Christ in Collinsville.

The Rev. Donald S. Sabbert officiated at the 7:30 p.m. ceremony in a candlelight setting. Organist Bill Hart accompanied Gary Palermo, soloist, as he sang "The Wedding Song," "Wedding Prayer" and "The Lord's Prayer."

For her wedding, the bride wore a white gown of silk organza designed with an Empire bodice, created of Venice lace, featuring a high neckline, bishop style sleeves and deep cuffs of matching lace.

Venise lace bordered a deep flounce at the hemline of the gathered skirt and she wore a mantilla veil edged with the same lace motif that fell gently to the chapel-length train.

Her bouquet was an arrangement of baby pink Sweetheart roses and white and light blue miniature Elegance carnations, encircled with lemon leaves greenery and festooned with blue streamers.

The matron of honor was Mrs. Judith M. Adams, a sister of the bride, and the bridesmaids included Mrs. Kenneth D. Woodward, another sister of the bride, Miss Kathy A. Rodrick and Mrs. Joseph Martinez.

Serving as junior bridesmaids were Miss Julie Adams and Miss Kimberly Woodward, the bride's nieces.

They were dressed alike in a soft floral pink and white print on a light blue background of dotted swiss. Their gowns were fashioned with scoop necklines, long Juliet-style sleeves and a set-in band of white lace encircling the waistline.

The semi-full skirts were enhanced with a triple tier look, accented with matching lace. Each attendant wore a white picture hat with pale blue netting around the crown, flowing to the hem of her dress and carried a round bouquet of white and blue daisy pom poms with touches of pink and long blue and white streamers.

Stacey Adams, the little flower girl, was gowned in a frock similar in style to the bridesmaids' gowns. She wore tiny flowers in her hair and carried a wicker basket of daisy pom poms.

The groom chose Dale E. Lane as his best man. Kenneth D. Woodward, a brother-in-law of the bride, Mike Bozzardi, the groom's brother, Donald Cox, a cousin of the groom, served as groomsmen.

Junior groomsmen were Joseph Adams, the bride's nephew, and Scott Bozzardi, another brother of the groom. Seating the guests were Paul Jackstadt and Larry O'Mohundro.

A reception was given at Long Lake Firemen's Hall, 4113 Pontoon Road, immediately following the ceremony. Mrs. Dale Lane presided over the guest book and Mrs. Gayle Flood assisted at the cake table.

The groom's parents were hosts at a rehearsal dinner at Miss Ann Bruno's in Collinsville.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Rutherford chose a floor-length dress of ivory chiffon with a matching antique lace jacket and accessories in the same shade. She wore a corsage of pink Sweetheart roses.

Mrs. Bozzardi, mother of the groom, was attired in a full-length gown of maine chiffon with matching accessories and a corsage of yellow Sweetheart roses.

After a wedding trip to Tazara at the Lake of the Ozarks, the newly married couple will reside in Collinsville.

A graduate of Granite City High School, the bride is a senior at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, where she is majoring in elementary education.

Mr. Bozzardi was graduated in 1967 from Collinsville High School and in 1972 from SIUE with a major in psychology. He is employed as an industrial sales representative with the L. R. Christiansen Co., Maryland Heights, Mo.

Out-of-town guests here for the wedding were Mrs. Nettie Rutherford of St. James, Mo., Mr. and Mrs. Harold Rutherford of Mount Vernon, Mr. and Mrs. John Rutherford of Dyersburg, Tenn.; Mrs. Ethel Bono, Cleveland, Ohio and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bozzardi of Los Angeles, Calif.

MRS. KATZMAN HEADS EDUCATION SECRETARIES

Members of the Granite City Association of Education Secretaries met at Girgby Junior High School; hostesses were Mrs. Wanda Kutera and Mrs. Betty Williams. The president, Mrs. Arlene Halderman, conducted the meeting and officers for 1973-74 were installed by Mrs. Martha Rochester and Mrs. Katherine Wittevoegel.

The group will sponsor Gwen Cagle as candidate for National Association of Education Secretaries scholarship.

MR. AND MRS. TERRY MIDLAND, who exchanged wedding vows in an early evening ceremony at St. John United Church of Christ, 2901 Nameoki Road. The bride is the former Miss Cynthia Sue Willaredt, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Willaredt of Edwardsville, formerly of Granite City.

Cynthia Willaredt and Terry Midland are wed

Miss Cynthia Sue Willaredt, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Willaredt of Edwardsville, formerly of Granite City, was married June 9 at St. John United Church of Christ, 2901 Nameoki Road. The 7 p.m. double-ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Dr. Paul R. Surbey.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Willaredt of Rural Route Two, Edwardsville, formerly of Granite City. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Midland of Edinburg, Ill.

The former Miss Willaredt was given in marriage by her father. Hurricane lamps illuminated the white carpeted aisle and the altar was adorned with bouquets of white flowers. Branches of candelabra were placed on either side, holding burning tapers.

Organist, Mrs. Irene Barick, accompanied Mrs. Larry Eads, who sang "One Hand One Heart" and "The Wedding Prayer."

The bride wore a floor-length gown fashioned of white satin, designed with a high-rise waistline and a wedding ring collar accented with Venise lace. The long full sleeves and deep cuffs were appliqued with Venise lace motifs, and seed pearls and motifs adorned the bodice, front panel and hemline of the A-line skirt.

The removable chapel-length motifs, was edged with lace. She wore a shoulder-length veil accented to a Venise lace headpiece adorned with seed pearls and organza ruffles. She carried a colonial bouquet of pink roses and baby breath.

Miss Susan Willaredt, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. The bridesmaids were Miss Lucille Kappler of Taylorville and Mrs. Linda Perona of Blue Mound, Ill. They wore identical gowns of pink chiffon over tulle, made with the Empire waistline, a high neckline and long full sleeves.

The wide cuffs, neckline and bodice were trimmed with pink Venise lace, inserted with pink satin ribbon, and they carried colonial bouquets of pink carnations and baby breath with white ribbon streamers.

Rev. Hunsley of Edinburg served as best man. Groomsmen were Wayne Sharp of Taylorville, cousin of the groom, and Bob Perona of Blue Mound.

Ushers were Don Willaredt of Collinsville, cousin of the bride, and Steve Nudo of Quincy, cousin of the groom.

The brides' mother wore a floor-length gown of yellow chiffon. The groom's mother was attired in a mini-green full-length gown of dotted Swiss. Both wore white accessories and corsages of pink cymbidiums.

A buffet supper was served at the reception held in the Church Fellowship Hall following the ceremony.

Miss Pamela Willaredt, Edinburg, attended the guest book. Rice bags were distributed to the guests by Miss Robin Schroeder of Columbia, Mo. Both are cousins of the bride.

The bride is a graduate of Eastern Illinois University at Charleston and is employed as a teacher in Edinburg. Her husband is employed by Hopper Paper Company in Taylorville.

Out-of-town guests were from Renwick and Eagle Grove, Iowa; Chesapeake, Va.; Dayton, Ohio; Florissant, St. Charles and Columbia, Mo.; and Urbana, Tremont, Morton, Quincy, Taylorville, Edinburg, Blue Mound, Wood River, Collinsville, Edwardsville and Glen Carbon in Illinois.

A rehearsal dinner was given by the groom and his parents at Charlie's Restaurant.

$71,250 grant for Vietnam vet education

Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville has been notified of a continuing grant of $71,250 from the U. S. Office of Education to help Vietnam-era veterans upgrade their education.

The grant will continue the existing program called "Veterans Upward Bound" from Sept. 11 to June 30, 1974.

As many as 90 veterans have been enrolled in the program which started in January on a $95,000 grant.

Veterans entering the program receive the same monthly payments that they would under the federal G.I. Education Bill. Participation in the veteran's 36-month eligibility under the G.I. Bill if he should decide to go on to college.

Priority is given to Vietnam veterans who do not have a high school diploma and who are unemployed or "under" employed.

According to Russ Heuberger of Highland, assistant director of the program and a Vietnam-era veteran with a master's degree in counseling from SIUE, four veterans recently completed the requirements for a high school diploma. A number of others are expected to complete the requirements soon.

Jim Stein, SIUE faculty member and Veterans Upward Bound program director, said, "The program has many benefits. It can lead to a job or entry into a vocational school. Also, because the participants are on a university campus, they get an idea of the atmosphere here, and it could help them decide to enter college somewhere."

Stein said the morale of the participating veterans is "very high," and he is hopeful that other veterans within commuting distance of SIUE will take advantage of the program, which presently is accepting enrollment.

Protection survey of county buildings due

Shifting emphasis from the fallout protection survey of ten years ago, the Defense Civil Preparedness Agency (formerly National Office of Civil Defense) room will begin looking at buildings in Madison County as part of a nationwide project called "All Effects Survey."

According to Ted Todoroff, Madison County Civil Defense Director, Madison County has been selected as one of 70 metropolitan areas in 38 states that will be surveyed to determine how much protection their large buildings will provide against the effects of high winds, severe storms, tornadoes, and earthquakes as well as national attack.

Todoroff said the teams of specially trained engineering and architectural students 260 of whom have been recruited for the summer from some 100 U. S. universities under the direction of the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers will begin surveying virtually all large buildings in Madison County around June 25.

Several hours will be required to survey each building. Owners and/or managers of the buildings will be contacted concerning specific survey times. The survey this summer will refine that data and will provide a wealth of additional information to the Madison County Civil Defense.

When the teams have completed the Madison County Survey they will move on to Peoria County. The survey is scheduled for completion by September 13.

Council turns down Pythias Lodge appeal

The Granite City Council concurred in a recommendation by the City Plan Commission denying a request by the Knights of Pythias to rezone property at 2528 Iowa St. from R-3 to R-5 to permit city meetings there, during a council meeting Monday night.

The City Council also agreed with recommendations of the Board of appeals approving requests for a side property line variations for or construction of garages and a carport.

They were on appeals of William Johnson, 2856 Fortuna Drive; Robert Knobloch, 2640 Pontoon Road; John Chandler, 2737 Birch Ave.; and Paul Simon.

Roy Koberna, 4037 Sara St., withdrew a request to construct a garage four feet from the side property line following an objection, and a decision to stay within the required five feet.

$171 million for interstate, $131 million freeways, $259 million for other highways

The largest highway construction and improvement program in the state's history and the largest in the nation this year was announced Tuesday by Gov. Dan Walker.

The fiscal 1973-74 program calls for expenditure of $24 million, or $7.6 million more than the last highway program of the previous administration; 799 miles of construction are planned for the year.

This is to include improvements on 646 miles, of which 322 miles will be widening of narrow, dangerous roads.

Included in the $24 million program are $26.3 million in federal funds and $131.2 million in bond money. The bond funds are for work on the 1,896 supplemental freeway system.

In addition to the fiscal 1974 program, Walker noted that the Department of Transportation now has work under contract or pending contract totaling $366 million for 571 miles of highway improvements.

Gov. Walker said: "This massive program reflects my pledge to assign a high priority to the improvement and replacement of our existing inadequate highways. Ever since my walk through the state I have been very much aware of the great discontent among the people of Illinois about their roads."

"They are particularly concerned about the roads they use every day, the roads their children travel to school, the roads the men travel to work or to market, the roads the women travel to shop and visit."

"And these are the roads that always get secondary attention. Those roads should be safe and convenient and making them that way will be a top priority of this administration."

The $24 million road program is the first under fiscal year programming. In the last session of the legislature, a bill was passed changing the road program from calendar year basis to a fiscal year basis.

Gov. Walker said the work on non-interstate roads — "our home — to work, farm — to market roads" — will double compared to work done in the current fiscal year.

"We will improve 646 miles of these highways, including the widening of 322 miles of narrow roads."

"For the first time in two years, since the approval of the bond program in 1971, substantial work on the supplemental freeway will go forward at a rapid pace."

"And I want to re-emphasize my statement of last week, that we intend to proceed with the entire 1,896-mile freeway system as funds become available."

"In all these programs, the goal is to increase the safety of the driver and his passengers. I have directed the Department of Transportation to strengthen its other safety programs for the elimination of roadside hazards and for the correction of dangerous conditions at high-accident locations throughout the state."

"More than $10 million has been allocated for that kind of safety work."

Included in the 1974 program are: New construction and improvement of 72 miles of interstate highway plus 20 miles of preparatory grading work for future paving.

A total of 79 bridges, overpasses and interchanges and 12 new rest parks on the interstate system.

"Construction of 81 miles of supplemental freeways and 54 bridges and overpasses. Land acquisition is also provided for future construction."

Improvements on 646 miles of non-interstate highways. This includes the widening of 322 miles of narrow pavement and the re-surfacing or reconstruction of 324 miles of other non-interstate highways.

Special federal funds totaling $8.7 million, designated for bridge replacement projects. In addition, priority has been given to a statewide bridge replacement program amounting to $10 million.

The breakdown of the $24 million funding includes $17.6 million for work on the interstate system, $131.2 million for supplemental freeways and $26.8 for non-interstate roads. Also, $40.8 million in bond funds have been provided for projects in Chicago and Cook County as part of an agreement by the legislature on the $900 million bond program. Another $20.4 million in road fund revenues will be spent in Chicago and Cook County.

Walker pointed out that the executive branch of the federal government has been impounding funds since 1969.

"If recent challenges to the withholding of these federal highway funds are successful, Illinois could receive an additional $133 million for work on its interstate program," he said.

As of today, 1,287 miles of the proposed 1,727 miles of interstate highways in Illinois have been completed — about 75%. There are also 271 miles of interstate highway now under construction.

Revenue sharing funds budgeted by Venice

A budget for the expenditure of $61,887 in federal revenue sharing funds was approved by the Venice City Council at a special meeting Monday night.

The budget is for the third entitlement period which began Jan. 1 and concludes June 30. Appropriations include $4,987 for public safety, $17,500 for environmental protection, $15,500 for health services, $5,000 for recreation, $5,000 for social services for the elderly and $12,000 for environmental conservation.

The public safety funds will be used for police department improvements, according to Mayor John E. Lee.

He explained that the environmental protection appropriation includes $10,000 for demolition of old buildings in the city and $7,500 for new city trucks to remove debris.

Another $7,500 is appropriated for trucks for the sewer department and $5,000 for sewer work comprises the appropriation for the health category, the mayor said.

The $5,000 for recreation and the $5,000 for senior citizens are for programs yet to be planned, he explained.

The environmental conservation appropriation is either for the city's share of a large incinerator to serve the Quad Cities or is to be used for another facility to dispose at least of leaves, he added.

Lee said in the revenue sharing legal publication that the funds will prevent the city's having to enact a new major tax to provide the services listed. There will be no effect on the present tax rate, he concluded.

Honored by alumni
Mary Lee Mateosian, 2510 Edison Ave., has received a life membership in the Alumni Association of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville for maintaining a grade-point average of 4.994 during her four years at SIUE. A perfect grade point average is 5.0.

Community, deeply saddened by the tragedy of May 22 and prays that it will never be repeated in the future

There is no way to assess the May 22 events at West 20th Street and Illinois Avenue as anything but tragic. For the family of Michael W. Collins, 16, there is a sense of deep loss. He was fatally wounded while fleeing from the scene of a tavern break-in. For the officers who thwarted the escape, there is acute and lasting sorrow that a fatality resulted from their effort to perform their duty. For this community, there is the sad awareness that, if Michael Collins' conduct had been interpreted earlier as a "cry for help," a way had been found to involve him in more diverse study and activity—it is unlikely he would have been anywhere near Illinois Avenue at 2:40 a.m., the hour when his life was cut short by a police bullet. We were born in a home only a few feet from where he died. We spent our early years in the same neighborhood in which he resided. Although many of the challenges of the current decade were absent then, the Depression years brought their share of hard times and violence to West Granite City. That area also is blessed, and was blessed then, by many fine people and much that is wholesome and positive. We have hesitated to make a judgment of what occurred May 22 because we felt a need for more of the facts to be brought to light. Family members, for example, had indicated that drinking might have been in-involved, but at the inquest June 15 an autopsy report showed no alcohol. It could be argued that shooting to wound or kill is not mandatory under state law, although permitted in such an instance. But there is no way for the past to be changed by such assertions. Our heart goes out to the Collins family and we wish there had been a different ending to the story. Yet, it must be said that it is the public which regularly sends officers out to risk—and often forfeit—their own lives. The public risks nothing; the public was not the target of thrown cans and bottles, nor did it have to concern itself with the many potential hazards at a tavern scene. The public can only guess at the actual circumstances, the sights and sounds that the police encountered. Can that same public now stand in judgment with a totally clear conscience? Law enforcement and crime prevention, after all, are not merely theoretical ideas but essential qualities—the kind of factors which go a long way toward determining whether a neighborhood or community is a good or bad place in which to live. They are goals which cannot always be attained without sacrifice. Such considerations fail to assuage the grief felt by all, but they do underscore the fact that everyone is the loser, everyone is diminished by what has happened. All we pray that the tragedy of May 22 will never be repeated.

Name and address must accompany each letter but will not be revealed if anonymity is requested. Communications should be sent to the editor, Granite City Press-Record, 1615 Delmar Ave., Granite City, Ill. 62040. Letters or notes in good taste will be accepted.

The FORM

TRAPPING BAN WOULD AMOUNT TO HYPOCRISY

To the Editor: Is there no limit to what depth people, such as the writer in The Forum from Chicago, will stop to achieve their own self-desires to ban the use of steel traps? ("Animal welfare bills could reduce cruelty," June 14.) Who does this out-of-town writer know on the Press-Record staff to be able to have an article printed that implies that present-day people who use steel traps are the same people who abuse children? Would this same writer have you believe that American trappers and frontiersmen, such as Pierre Chouteau Jr., Jedediah Smith, Kit Carson, Daniel Boone and John Jacob Astor, to name a few, were also child abusers? Since I am both an anti-trapper and a trapper, you can see my resentment to such a letter. I bet that those who are the most vocal in the struggle to ban trapping are the first ones to eat meat, wear leather shoes and belts, and feed their pets on other domestic animals. I go a step further and say that any person who does the above-mentioned things and opposes trapping and the present steel traps is a hypocrite. What is the war? A vegetarian or a hypocrite? HARRY D. DEATHERAGE 5120 Maryville Road, P.S. Enclosed is my letter to the Honorable Clifford S. Hubbard.

Latherow, chairman of the Illinois Senate Conservation Committee, expressing my disapproval of any regulation opinion on H.B. 1002, which may also print if space permits. Sen. Latherow: I have learned that the legislature is considering a bill which would out of the possession and use of steel traps. The article I read goes on to say that the House committee passed the measure by 12 to 1 vote. It both saddens and infuriates me that this many men would even consider taking away the sport of trapping and in some cases supplementary livelihood. Such legislators might find it more beneficial to have the steel trapper, but also the growing numbers of trap collectors. There are over 150 different species of birds, many different models of each brand. I suppose these are the types of traps which can expect out of Springfield with a "conscientious objector" and a member of "The Sierra Club" heading the Department of Conservation. I'll consider my two years in service during Korea as wasted if the anti-trap law is allowed to live. HARRY D. DEATHERAGE P.S. I also object to the now-passed endangered species law which curtails my importation of skins and furs which I can legally take in other states and Canada.

Olympics story exciting

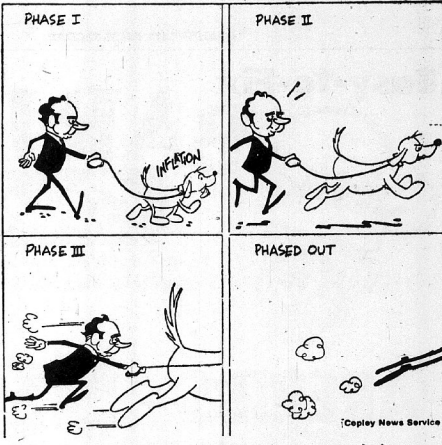

THE STORY OF THE OLYMPIC GAMES 776 B.C. to 1972; by John Kieran and Arthur Daley; J.B. Lipincott Co., 442 pages, $10.95.

Reviewed by RON WELLS Copy News Service

There are few events, including royal coronations and presidential inaugurations, which can match the Olympic Games for pomp and ceremony. Likewise, there are few events in or out of athletics which can match the Olympic Games for heart-stopping drama, complete joy and total despair. But time has a way of burying memorable events, dimming the images and dulling the senses which once tingled with the slightest recollection of them. With few exceptions, historical accounts of events of such grand proportions can be extremely antiseptic and unappealing. However, "The Story of the Olympic Games 776 B.C. to 1972" is the exception which makes the rule. Authors John Kieran and Arthur Daley have again pooled their considerable talents to record another chapter of Olympic history for the revised edition of "The Story of the Olympic Games." This latest edition of a book which was originally published following the 1952 Games in Helsinki, Finland, records all the triumphs and setbacks of Munich in a style that makes you feel as if you are there. Yet this is no flag-waving, cheer-the-Americans-boo-the-Russians account of the Games. Kieran and Daley share the joys of victory and the sadness of defeat with each country's athletes. They present a fair and unbiased account of the Games, capturing the Olympic spirit as few have been able to. The thing that makes this book a story is not the Olympic Games, but the story of the Olympic Games, built into tracing of the Olympics from their mystical, unrecorded beginnings at the foot of Mt. Olympus through their golden era in Greece and their decay and eventual banning by the Roman Emperor Theodosius I. This opening bit of history sets the stage for detailed and lively accounts of each of the modern Olympics, beginning with the Athens Games in 1896. "The Story of the Olympic Games" literally has something for everyone, from the historian to the sports nut to the future Olympic hopeful to the person who enjoys just curling up with a good book. This is a story about yesterday with meaning for tomorrow.

Laird and Haig good choices, Ziegler selection assailed

(Washington bureau)

Members of Congress, particularly the Republican members, are certain to be pleased by President Nixon's appointment of Melvin R. Laird, former congressman and former defense secretary, to be the President's chief domestic affairs adviser. Mr. Nixon's relations with Congress have been bad for most of his time in office. While some of that obviously stems from the President's personality and his concept of what the relationship between the executive and legislative departments should be, much of the unhappiness was attributed to the operations of John Erlichman, who held the title now being given Laird, and H.R. Halde-man, the other top presidential adviser. Republican members of Congress appeared to be most unhappy with the situation. Normally, representatives and senators from the President's party have a close association with the administration; they are kept informed of presidential plans, consult with administration representatives frequently on legislation and government operations, and get the break on announcing "good news" for their districts in the form of federal projects, grants, etc. But the Nixon administration has been aloof from Congress and frequently at odds with even many members of Congress from the Republican party. Laird, as a long-time congressman himself and a respected individual, ought to be able to bridge the gap somewhat between the President and Congress. However, he will be only as effective as Mr. Nixon permits him to be. Unless the President is willing to consult with Congress and show some respect for the legislative branch, his new domestic affairs adviser will still have an extremely difficult job. The role assigned to Gen. Alexander M. Haig in the White House staff reorganization appears to be chiefly one of administration rather than policy making. He has been an able assistant to Mr. Nixon and Foreign Affairs Adviser Henry Kissinger during the long negotiations in regard to Southeast Asia. Mr. Nixon is not helping his administration's credibility by promoting his press secretary, Ronald Ziegler, to the status of assistant to the President and communications director. Ziegler, never regarded by the press as very dependable for supplying information, has proved to be a real expert in obfuscation in the Watergate controversy. Even worse, a number of his statements have turned out to be outright falsehoods. He is credited with coining the expression "inoperable" to describe some of the false statements—just another indication of his tendency to blur things instead of making them, as the President so often advocates, "crystal clear."

Whether Ziegler knew what he was saying was false or whether he was just parroting what he was told by others to say, the words came from him, and this record casts a pall over his believability for the future. Yet here is the man Mr. Nixon is putting in charge of his whole communications operation. When the one thing the administration needs most at the moment is restoration of some credibility, it is appalling to consider that the President is putting more reliance on one of the most noncredible voices in government. On balance, Mr. Nixon stands to help his relations with Congress by installing Laird in his office, he apparently has a capable hand at administration in Gen. Haig, but he is weakening even further the credibility of his administration with the press and the public by promoting Ziegler.

Many firsts document Illinois University's 'excellence' claim

Because Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville is located in this area and because so many Quad-Cityans attend classes at SIUE, it receives considerable local attention than any other institution of higher learning. But there also are strong ties to the University of Illinois, which not only is the largest university in the state but also operates educational or extension programs of some sort in every Illinois county. A new brochure prepared by University of Illinois faculty members says—and documents the claim—that the university is a center of excellence that serves citizens of Illinois and reaches beyond the state boundaries to improve the lot of mankind. Through every major university has some prominent scientists, educators, research and training programs, the University of Illinois is near the top or exceeds all others in many significant categories. The Medical Center offers more graduate study than any other medical campus, and the College of Medicine is second largest in the nation. A University of Illinois physicist is the only person to receive two Nobel Prizes in the same field. The American Council on Education survey ranks the U. of I. graduate faculty in the top ten among all universities and top four among public state universities. U. of I. alumni rank third in the number of presidents or board chairmen of the 500 largest U. S. corporations. Agricultural research in plant genetics at the school is recognized as pre-eminent in improving corn and soybeans. The U. of I. has been a leader in computer design and development. A computer model of near completion surpasses any in existence. Research in the College of Education ranks first among state universities and second among all universities. The library is third among U. S. universities and fourth in the world. Engineering research ranks first in the nation. The College of Law received the first award of the International Academy of Trial Lawyers. The World Health Organization designated the University of Illinois as one of two international centers for medical teacher training. Accounting ranks first among universities having doctoral programs. The University of Illinois has over 100 practicing architects in the nation graduated from the U. of I. Appropriations for the next year, the U. of I. led the nation in the number of Ph.D.s trained. Illinois researchers identified the cause of the corn blight epidemic in 1970 and pointed the way to a cure.

State taxpayers pay less to educate freshmen and sophomores at the U. of I. Champaign-Urbana campus than in any other public institution of higher education in the state. The breadth and depth of U. of I. scientific expertise and research contribute much to the well being of Illinois citizens, it was asserted. A study of the impact on the University of Illinois of recent budget cuts concluded: "More than 20 years of hard work and great talent have been required to lift this campus from the ranks of the 'good' to that of the 'great' universities in the United States." "Far less time, and infinitely less talent, is being required to reverse the trend. In fact, it is being claimed that the university will not decline in quality because of lack of budgetary support." Similar views could be voiced for SIUE, which has its own unique qualities and also has been hit hard by the state budget squeeze for several years. When the Senate Appropriations Committee met on higher education funding June 14, SIUE President John Renshaw said: "Although it is not a generous bill, it is one I believe we can live with."

County country club is opened

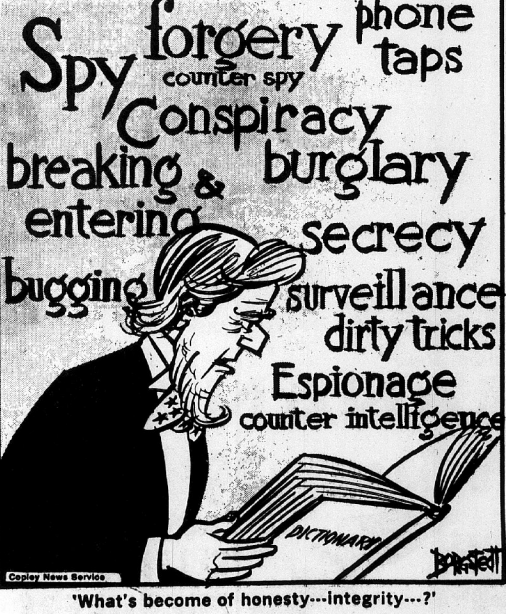

The Madison County Country Club, located between Edwardsville and Granite City, was formally opened today. It will be two or three weeks before the full equipment will have been put up on the club grounds; the golf course will then be put into use for club members.

Today's Health News

Published by the American Medical Association
A. BEE, C's of insect bites... The stings of the wasp and bee, common injuries during the summer, can cause serious illness and, in some instances, death. Problem occurs if a person is allergic or allergic to the insect, says Hollis S. Ingraham, M.D., New York State health commissioner. If you have more than local swelling after a bee, wasp, or hornet sting, it may be a sign of allergy to insect bites. If it is, you may have headaches, abdominal cramps, nausea, or breathing difficulties. If you have and swelling appear in an area other than the location of the sting, says Dr. Ingraham, "report it to your physician." If you are stung, run cold, clean water over the bite or pack the area with ice to relieve pain and reduce swelling. Don't try to remove the stinger with your fingers—an innocent squeeze on the embedded stinger may release additional venom. Stingers should be lifted out with tweezers or the edge of a sterile knife. Dr. Ingraham also recommends that people who know they are sensitive to insect stings consult their doctors for emergency first-aid medication to carry on summer outings. You can help keep the bees away, too. Don't wear bright colors outdoors and eliminate sticky foods from picnic menus—they'll only attract the buzzing intruders. Pop right into your diet... With a handful of popcorn that's right, the munchy crunch stuff that's easy to eat, it's much you must. (At least it might keep your mind off candy bars.) According to Philip L. White, S.C.D., secretary of the American Medical Association's Council on Foods and Nutrition, one cup of plain, large kernel popped corn has only 25 calories. But stay away from the buttered variety. With butter, the same cup of popcorn yields 40 calories. And popcorn is a strictly taboo, with a whopping 150 calories. For a tasty change, sprinkle dried cheese on popped corn and broil for minutes, but add 25 calories for every tablespoon of cheese used.

U.S. court ruling to aid state in clean air fight

Illinois Attorney General William J. Scott believes that Illinois' economy will benefit from a United States Supreme Court ruling, which allows the lower court decision prohibiting any state or federal agency from permitting the deterioration of air quality in any part of any state.

The Supreme Court ruling came in a suit brought by the Sierra Club against the federal Environmental Protection Agency.

This decision is favorable to Illinois citizens as well as to Illinois industry," Scott said. "It ends the competitive economic disadvantage to Illinois created by states not as concerned with maintaining air quality as Illinois has been."

Scott noted that his office, together with 20 other states, had filed a friend of the court brief on the side of the Sierra Club, urging the Supreme Court to recognize that "a line must be drawn at the present level of air quality and a start made leading to the restoration and enhancement of the healthful quality of the nation's air resources."

Scott's brief also noted that "serious economic and other practical consequences would result to Illinois from a national policy permitting other states to significantly degrade existing air quality."

Such consequences would include inducement to industry to leave Illinois in favor of locations where pollution controls would not be required, and such moves would take away jobs from Illinois residents, Scott explained.

"This is a landmark decision,"

Stand Up for Business Week set by Governor

The week of June 24-30 has been designated "Stand Up for Business Week" in a proclamation issued by Governor Dan Walker.

The proclamation, issued at the request of the Illinois State Chamber of Commerce, urges Illinoisans to recognize the contributions of commerce and industry to our state and nation. Local chambers of commerce throughout the state are spearheading area programs in connection with the observance.

The statewide "Stand Up for Business" campaign is part of a three-year program of chambers of commerce to tell the story of the free enterprise system in their communities.

"Thrust of the drive is to correct the many misconceptions held by the public about business and tell the real, positive story of the business system and its constructive role in society," said Lester W. Brann, Jr., state chamber president.

Chambers will utilize promotional materials to "boost" business. Scheduled for showing to public groups is a new slide presentation titled "The Day Business Stood Still," a 20-minute sound and color production showing what would happen to a typical family if business suddenly came to a halt.

Future activities will include economic education programs aimed at teachers and students and political action programs involving governmental leaders.

Speakers list, topics available at SIUE

A revised listing of speakers and topics on which they are available to talk is being distributed by the Speakers' Bureau of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

Operated by the University Information Center, of which Annette M. Mulvaney is director, the Speakers' Bureau has provided more than 140 speakers for various engagements in the bi-state area in the past 18 months. They have spoken on topics ranging from dentistry to puppetry, and from foreign policy to American folklore.

"We are pleased with the manner in which our speakers have been received as well as with their increasing desire to meet groups on behalf of the university," Miss Mulvaney said. More than 170 faculty and staff members have volunteered to serve as speakers on a variety of educational topics and subjects of personal interest. In the printed listing distributed by the Information Center, the speakers are listed alphabetically by name and title, and an extensive subject index also is provided. A copy of the Speakers' Bureau list and arrangements for the appearance of speakers can be made by writing the University Information Center, Box 18-A, Southern Illinois University, Edwardsville, Ill., 62025, or by phoning 692-2739.

SIUE to receive $106,000 in federal grant

Congressman Melvin Price (D-East St. Louis) has announced that three area colleges have been awarded federal grants totaling nearly $150,000 to participate in the Supplementary Educational Opportunity Grants Program.

Cong. Price also announced the awarding of a grant under the Strengthening Developing Institutions Program to McKendree College, Lebanon.

The award for the Supplementary Educational Opportunity Grants includes McKendree College which received over $24,000, Parks Air College in Cahokia receiving nearly $18,000, and Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville which was granted over $106,000.

Cong. Price explained that the program offers federal grants ranging from $200 to $1,500 per year to undergraduate college students who prove exceptional financial need.

Over 200 students at the participating area colleges will be assisted by the grants, Cong. Price said.

The Strengthening Developing Institutions Program, Price explained, is part of Title III of the Higher Education Act.

As a participating college, McKendree will receive a share of a $1.85 million federal grant. The program is designed to develop the curriculum, faculty, administration, and student services of colleges which have potential, but are in financial difficulties.

The exact dollar amount of the grant presented to McKendree will be announced at a later date, Price said.

Reservists entitled to time off from jobs

Employers in Illinois and Indiana were reminded today that reservists and national guardsmen are entitled to time off from their jobs to perform active duty for training.

The reminder came from John W. Beatty, area administrator of the Labor-Management Services Administration, U. S. Department of Labor, in Chicago.

Upon their return from training, reservists and national guardsmen have a legal right to be restored to their positions with the same seniority, status, pay and vacation rights as they previously held.

The law also prohibits any kind of employment discrimination against a reservist or guardsman because of his participation in the program.

Beatty pointed out that military training duty for guardsmen and reservists normally occurs during the summer months, and it can be expected that most of them will be absent from employment for two or three weeks of training during this period.

Reservists and guardsmen were cautioned by Beatty to notify their employers before leaving for training and to report back to their jobs immediately upon completion of their tours, or they may forfeit their statutory re-employment protection.

Additional information about the re-employment rights of reservists, national guardsmen and Vietnam era veterans can be obtained from Beatty's office, Room 706, Federal Office Building, 219 S. Dearborn St., Chicago, phone (312) 353-7264.

EMBEDDED SCRAPER, loaded with dirt and weighing about 100 tons, was found Tuesday morning along the edge of Horseshoe Lake just off Bend Road. The unit had been driven from the United Landfill site near the lake and had gone off the road, narrowly missing the house in the background. The shoulder of the road was broken and will have to be repaired by Nameoki Township.

Mired in mud, this United Landfill bulldozer was found Tuesday morning at the side of Bend Road near Route 203. It is believed the same person who drove a large elevating scraper into Horseshoe Lake during the night tried to pull it out with the bulldozer but was unsuccessful. While returning the bulldozer to the landfill, he drove off the side of the road and embedded the bulldozer also. Landfill employees spent most of Tuesday trying to free the two pieces of equipment.

Madison deputy back from meet in Switzerland

Madison County Deputy Sheriff John J. Onesty of Madison has returned from the International Police Association Seventh Congress held in Montreux, Switzerland.

Onesty, who lives at 1724 Sixth St., Madison, was one of four officers representing Region Eight of the International Police Association, Region eight, headquartered in St. Louis, is one of nine United States regions and covers a 352 mile radius.

The 300 police officers from around the world spent six days discussing ways to increase cooperation between police departments, the international drug problem and other law enforcement related matters.

The organization elected officers to serve for the next three years. A Paris, France, police captain was elected president defeating a New York City officer, according to Onesty.

"I was very impressed by the number of top officials from major departments in attendance. In Europe the police are more military in nature, particularly in the titles they use such as General," Onesty related.

"I had a chance to tour a few countries while in Europe and I went into East Berlin. I didn't have any trouble getting into East Berlin, but coming out took me 30 minutes explaining to Russian soldiers what I was doing with a Swiss police helmet a friend had given me."

She is a Madison volunteer fireman.

He was admitted to St. Elizabeth Hospital with wounds from a 12-gauge shotgun to both legs. The couple reportedly had an argument at Victory Tavern, 1729 Edwardsville Road, which is operated by them, police said.

Following the argument, Mrs. Bailey allegedly walked home, grabbed the shotgun and fired through the screen door at her husband, officers reported.

He entered his auto and started to drive to St. Elizabeth Hospital but his car was stopped by Madison police at Edwardsville Road and Alton Avenue. Officers took him in the squad car to the hospital.

Deadline June 30 for new truck licenses

Only a few days remain for owners of trucks and other second division vehicles licensed on a fiscal year basis to display new license plates, Michael J. Howlett, secretary of state, said today.

"The statutory deadline for displaying plates for fiscal year 1973-74 is midnight Saturday, June 30," Secretary Howlett said.

"There is no guarantee that mail orders received in Springfield at this late date can be processed and plates delivered by mail in time to meet the deadline."

Plates may be purchased over-the-counter in Springfield in the Centennial building and at Ninth street and South Grand avenue.

Second division plates for fiscal year 1973-74 are blue with black numerals and lettering.

Auto ends in florist shop, driver is hurt

Floral displays behind a large plate glass window were destroyed and the front entrance was extensively damaged at Goff & Dittman Florists, 402 Madison Ave., Madison, when an auto operated by Corky Hughes, 20, of 13 Garesche Homes, Madison, penetrated the front of the store this week.

The driver initially refused medical treatment at St. Elizabeth Hospital, but returned to the emergency room two hours after the accident, had x-rays taken of the skull and spine and was admitted.

Police said that Hughes' car and a vehicle operated by Eddie Williams, 1116 Calhoun St., Venice, collided on Madison Avenue near the Fourth Street intersection.

After the initial impact, the Hughes auto continued across the sidewalk and crashed into the florist shop, coming to a halt partially inside the building.

Hughes was charged with reckless driving and operating a vehicle without a driver's license on his person.

Janet Johnson, 1234 Madison Ave., a passenger in the Hughes car, and Williams, apparently escaped injury, police said.

Will Scott face Sen. Stevenson or Gov. Walker?

Copley News Service

Springfield — Bill Scott is in a sensitive political situation. During his campaign for attorney general, he portrayed himself as the "people's lawyer." Now in practice, his office is spending a great deal of time providing legal advice for Gov. Dan Walker and his administration.

Scores of disgruntled state employees fired by Walker have sued the administration for reinstatement to their former jobs.

Many of the suits are of a political nature — Republicans are charging they were fired by Democrats because of their political affiliation; by law, Scott, a Republican, must defend Walker, a Democrat.

The sensitive nature of the court cases is in evidence in the suit filed by J. R. "Jake" Levesque. He is charging he was fired from his executive position in the Department of Aeronautics, in part, because of his party work.

A former McHenry County GOP chairman, Levesque previously served as an assistant state treasurer when Scott was treasurer. New Scott is in a position of arguing against his old friend.

If his office lags in the defense of the administration, Democrats will scream politics. On the other hand, if he pursues the cases too aggressively, he will offend members of his own party.

In addition to defending the governor in court, Scott has issued some opinions which directly affect the governor's office.

For example, he took Walker off the book with an opinion that acting directors of state agencies could be paid although they would never be confirmed by the state Senate.

Republicans had requested an opinion on the matter, and a contrary ruling would have given the governor more fits with his already beleaguered appointments.

Scott would just as soon not have his office playing politics all of the time.

Preferably, he would have his attorney working on environmental or anti-trust cases — those are the type of cases which keep his name before the public and serve as the base for his record in office.

Although he did not grab the reins of the state Republican Party after Gov. Richard Ogilvie's defeat, he is still considered the front runner for the GOP nomination for governor in 1978.

That's one reason why he doesn't want Walker to look too good when he defeats him — they may be opponents.

But before that race comes up, Republicans must state someone six months from now

II RECEIVE WINGS AS NEW GIRL SCOUTS

Girl Scout Troop 45, under the direction of the leader, Mrs. Alice Robinson, entertained Brownies from Troops 103 and 341 of Logan School.

The ceremony was conducted by the leaders, Mrs. Robinson, Mrs. Dorothy Foster and Mrs. Wanda Moore.

Brownies, flying up to become Girl Scouts were Ruth Ann Miller and Anita Lloyd from Troop 103 and Dee Dee Durbin, Linda Foster, Mary Pat Nelson, Wendy In, Rhonda Mabry, Susan Barnett, Jodi Laparus, Chris Miller and Pam Box from Troop 341. The girls received their Girl Scout wings and pins.

After the ceremony, the scouts served a cake decorated with the Girl Scout emblem.

Attending, other than those mentioned were Paula Brown, Rita Ellis, Connie Parker, Christine Barnhart, Cheryl Hill, Donna Holt, Karen Moore, Lisa Laparus, Rhonda West, Teresa Whitney, Sherry Foster, Tammy Moore, Darlene Moore, Sandy Robinson, Laura Williams, Laura Rigby, Tammy Walker, Kimmi Douglas, Melinda Dacus, Elizabeth Peters, Vicki Cottrell, Paula Tinsley and April Robinson.

Firm changes name

The corporate name of Glen-Son Leasing Co., Inc. has been changed to Granite City Leasing Co., Inc. It was announced by the office of Secretary of State Michael J. Howlett. The correspondent listed is Dailey & Walker of Granite City.

Donald Rumsfeld, the ambassador to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, seems to be slipping from contention because his close association with the White House.

A Gallup poll recently showed that the Republicans feared all along—that Watergate will probably have an effect on the 1974 election.

U. S. Rep. John Anderson of Rockford, another possible candidate, has been stumping across the state testing the political waters. If he thinks he doesn't have a chance of beating Stevenson, he would be reluctant to give up his seniority in the House.

That leaves Scott, who many Republicans think would be the strongest candidate in the first place.

If Scott runs and loses, he would still be attorney general. If he runs and wins, Walker could appoint a Democrat to issue the sensitive political opinions.

THERE COULD BE A TREE IN YOUR LIFE AT COTTONWOOD STATION

A tree and room to grow. We are talking of a totally planned community. The concept of quality housing people need at prices they can afford. But the Cottonwood Station story is best described in feelings. The pride of the families who live there. They talk about the protected environment and the underground utilities. They and their children enjoy the 30 acre rustic park for hiking, picknicking, or bird watching. There's even a well stocked lake and tennis courts. All this and good neighbors. As an example, there is Cottonwood Village with integrity-built, architect designed, 3 bedroom patio homes, for less than twenty-five thousand dollars. Cottonwood Village is at Edwardsville on Illinois 159, about 20 minutes from St. Louis. Open from noon until daily including Sunday. Coffee is always on the stove. A bowl of apples on the table. You can listen to a tree growing.

Former resident receives award

Mrs. Helen (Gross) Parmley, religion editor for the Dallas Morning News in Dallas, Tex., and a former Granite City resident, has received a national award in "recognition of outstanding service rendered or organized religion through impartial journalism—advancing the spiritual life of our nation."

The newspaperwoman was honored and presented the award at a banquet in Indianapolis, Ind.

The Religious Public Relations Council of New York named the Dallas Morning News winner of its 1973 Merit Award for outstanding religious journalism and designated Mrs. Parmley as a Fellow of the council.

Only two other newspapers in the United States received the coveted award—the Evening Star and Daily News of Washington, D. C., and the Worcester (Mass.) Telegram.

Forty-eight religion writers competed for the title of Fellow, it was learned.

Mrs. Campbell heads Madison unit

Mrs. Pansy Campbell was elected president of the American Legion Auxiliary of Henry Mitchell Post 799 of Madison, at a meeting held Monday evening at the Post Home, 1048 Douglas Ave., Venice.

Young, treasurer; Mrs. Mary Cross, historian; Mrs. Louise Powers, chaplain; Mrs. Barbara Madison, sergeant-at-arms; Mrs. Maggie Cannon, Juniors' supervisor and Mrs. Theresa Franklin, assistant supervisor.

Installation ceremonies for the new officer corps are being planned, with a tentative date set in July.

Mrs. Campbell announced that Mrs. Coleman was selected historian for the American Legion Auxiliary's 22nd District.

Piano recital at 1st Baptist

A piano recital will be given at 2 p.m. at the First Baptist Church, 21st Street and Delmar Avenue, by students of Mrs. Jewel Everett.

Other business concerned reports from a 22nd District conference held at Venice-Madison Legion Post 203 and attended by Mesdames Campbell, Cannon, Coleman and Young.

Students, who will perform in the afternoon program, include Monica Morris, Marsha Fisher, Gail and Deborah Poole, Pam Snelson, Sharon Heath, Paula Fisher, Ruth Eberwine, Rhonda Mikuleza, Jo Ann Sturdivant, Rocky Lupardus, Brian Beljan, Gail Kendall, Ramona Warren, Susie Summers, Mark Schwarzkopf, Enid Cox, Leslie Houser, Tami Terrell, Jane Friederich, Rebecca Dudley, Tom Wilkerson, Alicia Hendricksen, Mary Peters, Cindy Hochuli, Sharon McBride, David Long, Jeanie Schwarzkopf and Carolyn Goldasich.

Farmers observe 'Dairy Month'

"Dairy Month," being observed throughout the month of June, prompted a Young Farmers group associated with the Madison County Farm Bureau to present the mother of the first baby born here this month with a basket of dairy products and also give her attending physician a similar gift.

The baskets were prepared by Prairie Farms Dairy, Inc. The gifts were presented to Mrs. Robert White, 3605 National Ave., following the birth of her son, Timothy Neal, June 1 at St. Elizabeth Hospital and to Dr. Harold Toussaint, Mrs. White's doctor. The physician received a seven pound, 13 ounce package of cheese products, representing the exact weight of the new arrival.

Mr. and Mrs. John Relleke, a local farm couple, made the presentation on behalf of the Young Farmers organization.

Business women hold 51st installation

Bouquets of summer blossoms, bright green shamrocks and complementary table accessories were used to create a gala setting for the 51st annual installation banquet of the Granite City Business and Professional Women's Club.

The affair was conducted at Sunset Hill Holiday Inn. About 85 members and guests attended the formal dinner party and witnessed the installation of Mrs. Lillie Marzluft as the new president of the local business women's group.

Serving as the installing officer was Miss Fidella Doolin of Carbondale, recording secretary of the Illinois Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, who charged the club's new executives with their responsibilities.

Installed with Mrs. Marzluft were: Miss Annette Smith, president-elect; Mrs. Rosemary Basden, first vice-president; Mrs. Sylvia Wright, second vice-president; Mrs. Lorene Sadrakula, secretary; Mrs. Ruth Wolk, treasurer; and Mrs. Maxine Butler, corresponding secretary.

New board members installed were Mrs. Rebecca Slate, Mrs. Edna Kohlbrecher, Mrs. Genevieve Grady, Mrs. Gladys Newman, Mrs. Valerie Stevens and Mrs. Ann Burton.

Special guests introduced by Mrs. Pauline Weir, the retiring president, included Mrs. Catherine Burton of Collinsville, first vice-president of the state BPW federation; Mrs. Mary E. Moran, local and district winner of the Young Career Woman contest; and Miss Kathy Jernigan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Layton, 2020 E. 24th St., a June graduate of Granite City High School and winner of the club's Pearl Ryckman Scholarship Award.

Guests also were present representing the Fairview Heights and Collinsville BPW clubs.

Musical entertainment was provided by several talented artists under the direction of Mrs. Valerie Stevens, vocal music director for the Madison School District, who furnished the piano accompaniment.

Among those performing solo and duet numbers were Attorney Americk Kachigan, Mrs. Beverly Scroggs, a Granite City school teacher, Frank Joachimsthaler, director of the National Park Association at the St. Louis Gateway Arch.

Miss Alicia Hendrickson, a Madison High School graduate, now attending Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, daughter of Mrs. Lillie Marzluft, daughter of the club's president, who is a teacher in the Fairview Heights School District.

Sen. Percy preparing presidential campaign

By KEN WATSON
Copley News Service

Springfield — Percy's going through channels. The recognized presidential bid of U. S. Sen. Charles H. Percy, is not to be marked by the emotional frenzy of a Wendell Wilkie in 1940, or the above-the-battle stance of Dwight D. Eisenhower in 1952.

Percy, as is his nature, is preparing to work methodically and purposefully during the next several years with the GOP party organizations in the various states in planning for the 1976 National Convention.

Whether this effort in itself will succeed, or whether it will rebound to the benefit of Percy's own presidential ambitions remains to be seen.

But that this will be his course in the months immediately ahead was made plain to use in a comparatively brief, background interview session with the senator on his Springfield visit.

Percy, it is obvious, is sensitive that his sharp criticisms of President Nixon on the Watergate Affair may have irritated many loyal Republicans and, perhaps, given him somewhat of a reputation as a party maverick.

This is an image that will have to be erased if he is to have any chance of winning the support of delegates at the 1976 convention. This effort to build grass roots support among party regulars will apparently move in tandem with the campaign to generate overall voter support across the country as incorporated in the formation of an "Exploratory Committee," composed of close friends and associates.

He stressed to us that this will be basically a low-key group, designed primarily to do research and emphasize there are no plans to contact delegates at past conventions or to line up any delegates for 1976.

"All we are doing is exploration and research," he said. Percy enters into pre-convention planning with sound credentials. He was active in convention activity long before he became a candidate for political office.

He was chairman of the Republican Platform Committee in 1960 and before that served as chairman of the Republican National Finance Committee between 1955 and 1959.

His hope for 1976 is a convention and will avoid splintering the party, a major cause for the Democrat debate of 1972. "We want to avoid the mistakes the Democrats made," he told us, "like not seating Mayor Daley."

Percy also declared himself as "completely against any quota system."

The senator is putting off any decision on a definite 1976 presidential candidacy until after the 1974 election.

This in itself is significant and to Illinoisans strikes a chord of 1965-66.

In 1964, Illinois Republicans were generally crushed in the Johnson over Goldwater landslide, but Percy came close to beating Gov. Otto Kerner. Two years later, the state GOP lined up behind Percy in display of party unity and he went on the beat previously unbeatable Democrat Sen. Paul H. Douglas as Republicans won two of three statewide offices at stake.

With the Republican outlook for 1974 increasingly grim, there are some who believe that Chuck Percy will have prepared the groundwork to become a national force for unity.

July hearings on rules to limit 'congestion' centers

A citizens' advisory group is being formed by the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency to aid in the development of air pollution regulations for complex sources—shopping centers, sports arenas, recreation parks, etc.

Complex sources are described by the federal EPA as combinations of buildings or commercial attractions which individually may not pose a pollution threat, but which may affect air quality indirectly through traffic, congestion and associated urban and commercial development.

"New regulations which are being required by the federal government will affect many kinds of residential and commercial development," Jack M.

Marco, acting director of the Illinois EPA, reports.

"We wish to bring as many of these people as possible into the early decision-making process, so that we can be sure the proposed regulations will be workable and reasonable," Marco said.

Planning groups, municipal officials, environmental groups, government agencies, special interest groups, business and industry associations and citizen organizations have been asked to participate in the discussions which will lead to adoption of the regulations.

The actual text of the regulations will be written by the Illinois EPA and the state Institute for Environmental Quality, taking the advisory group's discussion and recommendations into account.

Illinois EPA plans to submit the complex source proposals to the Pollution Control Board by June 21, so that hearings may be held in July and a board decision be made prior to Aug. 15.

The federal EPA has warned that if states do not adopt adequate complex source regulations by Aug. 15, it will create its own regulations with which the states would have to comply.

Marco said the federal requirement for regulating complex sources provides that states must have procedures for assuring review of plans and proposed locations prior to construction of shopping centers, apartment complexes, recreation parks, entertainment complexes and similar projects to assess their potential for affecting air quality.

"It is our belief that, as much as possible, these reviews and decisions should be kept on the local level, close to the people affected, with ultimate review and approval by the state EPA," Marco said.

Municipalities and organizations which have not been contacted but would like to contribute to the decision-making process are to contact Ed Wilson, Division of Air Pollution Control, Illinois EPA, 200 W. Washington St., Springfield, Ill. 62733.

THE WORLD OF MUSIC: Andy finds niche after hard work

By JUDY HUGG
Copy News Service

Finding the perfect niche in the world of music for one's talent often involves years of hard work and frustration. Such is the case of Mercury recording artist Andy Bown.

For years Andy Bown worked with various bands, none of which was really able to get off the ground because of the lack of funds, poor management and the other things which plague new groups.

However, in 1971 producer Jimmy Horowitz convinced Andy to go solo and ever since then things have been falling into all the right places for Andy.

"Sweet William" on Mercury is Andy's new album and it contains some of the finest things ever done by him.

"It's difficult to describe the material," Andy said. "But it's like a collection of separate songs. They are definitely specific songs, you know, self-contained units, all done with a group sound."

The LP was written entirely by Andy with the exception of two cuts done by Trevor Preston, a very successful script writer from England.

"I don't usually like to write with other people," Bown said. "Because I don't feel that the setting up of writing partnerships really works. However, it's different with different people, but with me I like to get right to the heart of the complete idea and just do it the way I initially thought of it."

Andy's material all comes from his personal experiences and run very close to the real happening.

"There's one cut called 'Chicago's Got Me' which is about the trip I made there last year to see the Beatles on Mercury Records," he said. "I'd never been in this country before and during that trip

I think it was 40 degrees below when the wind would blow. And coming from dear old England I'd never been in such cold weather."

"Actually it took me several days to fall into the routine that you just don't get out unless you gonna step right into an air-conditioned car. Cause no matter what you were you just couldn't walk anywhere. Anyway that rather struck me so I wrote the song — it's sort of a rock 'n' roll type thing."

Andy says that all his songs are "messages" from his soul but picked out. "Beautiful Morning" as the typical message song on the LP. It's directed toward a girl — "I'll love you until the fish die in the sea..." but has a tongue-in-cheek ecology message behind it.

At the moment Andy's backup musicians consist of Chris Belshaw, bass guitar; Nico Harston, electric guitar; Glen La Fleur, drums; and John Manning, a fine keyboard man originally from the group IF.

"We might add a flute player who could double, but right now I don't feel the need for any more for the band," he said. "I don't want to get it too complicated, otherwise you can never up the soul content. My idea is to keep it relatively simple although we have places where we stretch out musically, especially where the soloists are concerned."

When asked to describe the sound of his music, Andy was almost at a loss for words.

"Well that's difficult to say," he said. "It's got more than three chords but I like to make it sound like it's only got two chords more for the band."

"They are really interested in the music for music's sake. In England if you play anything new, anything they've never heard before, they're not really interested and don't like to give it a chance. Actually it takes air play to break a song there because of the lack of interest. But here we can play a song they've never heard and you can just tell they're listening to the lyrics as well as the music. It's really nice."

And so is Andy Bown's "Sweet William" which will soon start its climb up the national polls.

Prof. Going named Outstanding Educator

William T. Going, professor of English language and literature at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, has been selected as an Outstanding Educator of America for 1973. The citation was signed by V. Gilbert Beers, Ph.D., director of Outstanding Educators of America, Washington, D.C.

In his letter accompanying the certificate, Beers wrote, "I am sure that members of your family, community and state are proud to have among them an educator of your exceptional ability, dedication and service."

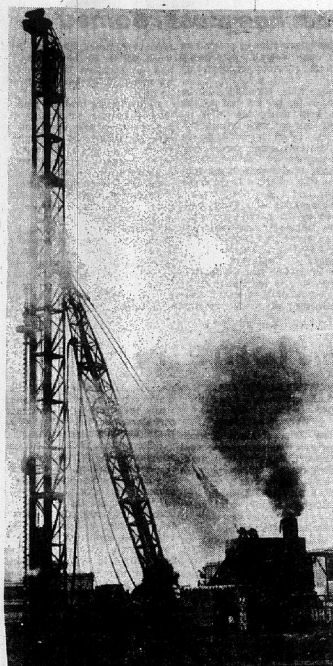

Going was the first faculty member to be named a professor at the Edwardsville campus, having held that rank since 1967 when SIU opened its Edwardsville campus at East St. Louis. He is listed in Who's Who in America, Who's Who in Education and the Directory of American Scholars. His name will appear in the 1973 edition of Outstanding Educators of America, with a full biography.

Author of some 35 published essays, Prof. Going is editor of 99 Fables by William March, which won the Southeastern Library Association award for 1969. His book, Store and Mockingbird: Essays in Alabama Literature, is under contract for publication in 1974 by the University of Alabama Press. His most recent publication, "Browning and The Sonnet," appeared in Tennessee Studies in Literature for the year 1972.

Going, who lives in Edwardsville, was dean of academic affairs at SIUE from 1968 to 1965.

The equipment was moved from Texas to drive the piling for the new structures, located north of Peck classroom building. The new buildings will provide space for 160 laboratories, 38 classroom, 29 seminar rooms, 38 tutorial spaces, 10 observation rooms, 6 studios, 237 offices for faculty and staff and 29 general offices.

Accepted by seminary

Curtis Allen Russell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Burl Russell, 1948 Spring Ave., will attend Southwest Baptist Theological Seminary at Fort Worth, Tex., in the fall. He graduated this spring from Southwest Baptist College, Boonville, Mo., with a bachelor of arts degree.

Interurban trace to be developed into bikeway

Bicycle enthusiasts and persons interested in walking a nature trail have been assured of additional opportunities to use the abandoned interurban trace which runs through the campus of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

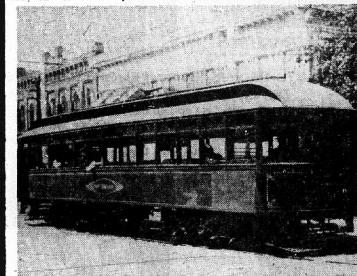

Lending momentum to the effort for a bikeway to join the City of Edwardsville to the University campus is nurseryman Ernest E. Tosovsky who contributed $1,000. A past district governor of Rotary International, he asked the Edwardsville Rotary Club to adopt the bikeway as a major project. The club clinched its acceptance with a matching $1,000 gift.

Another Retarian, B. D. Hudgens, vice-president of financial affairs at SIUE, pledged the university to a $1,000 contribution, help in developing the project, maintenance, security and liability coverage.

The bikeway will begin at the railroad overpass on Poag Road and end at Bluff Road. A bridge will be built across Delaplain Branch.

To be known as the "Delyte W. Morris Bikeway" in tribute to the man who served from 1946 to 1970 as president of SIUE, the trace "will be a wonderful nature trail and bikeway for the enjoyment of not only the university but all the people in the vicinity," Tosovsky said. "It can also be a trail for students to use going to and from classes."

"I have a sentimental reason for seeing the old interurban trace developed," Tosovsky explained. "I used to ride the street car when I courted my wife, Mary, whose home stood on the spot where the heart of the campus is now located. The last car to come up from St. Louis going to see a bike-way along this trace 'extend from Edwardsville city limits westward through the campus to Bluff Road, then turn southward to connect to the abandoned Illinois Terminal Railroad roadbed, along which a return to Edwardsville can be made past the YMCA area to the Montclair shopping center."

INTERURBAN TRAINS were a popular form of transportation during the first 40 years of this century, and electrically operated cars such as this one were a common sight as they crossed what is now the campus of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. This picture, owned by the Madison County Museum, shows the St. James Hotel, Traxas Opera House and part of the Madison County jail in Edwardsville. The car was operated by the East St. Louis & Interurban Electric Railway Co. and later the Illinois Terminal Railroad. Part of the roadbed for the line has been converted to a bicycle and walking path on the SIUE campus and is called "The Trace."

Stevenson Poised to open campaign with single fund

Copley News Service
Springfield—U. S. Sen. Adlai Stevenson kicks off his unofficial campaign for re-election shortly in Chicago.

However, the fact that he is holding a fund-raising affair is not nearly as important as the groundrules for contributors. Each ticket buyer will be listed by name, address, occupation and employer. No cash will be accepted—checks only.

Stevenson, one of the leading reformers on campaign financing, is also not going to mislead the public by setting up dozens of phony committees which conceal and complicate finances. He'll have one committee only—Citizens for Stevenson.

Virtually all experienced fund-raisers say present methods of forming campaigns need reform. Public pressure has not forced change yet, but the tales about the thousands of $100 bills being juggled around in suitcases in the Watergate scandal—and the controversy surrounding Anthony Angelos' reported $50,000 contribution to Gov. Dan Walker's campaign—have raised serious questions about financing.

Federal regulations are a step ahead of the state law. At the national level, public disclosure of anyone contributing $100 to a campaign is required. At the state level, legislation is pending which is patterned after the federal law.

Stevenson thinks the disclosure is not enough. He prefers financing part of the campaign with taxpayers' money so lawmakers would not be beholden to special interests and their bulging campaign purses.

"The overwhelming argument for reform is not that reform will end abuses and punish offenders," Stevenson said, "but that it will protect the great majority of candidates and elected officials who are honest, decent and law-abiding."

"The alternative—and we must face it squarely—is a political system in which candidates are beholden to large donors, if not literally up for auction."

"Such a system literally invites abuses, from the unethical to the criminal."

Illinois' junior senator said a bill he introduced would:

1. End skyrocketing spending for federal campaigns.
2. Make it possible for all candidates, regardless of their wealth, to sustain their campaigns, "without having to choose between bankruptcy on the one hand and dependence on large, corrupting donations on the other."
3. Bring order to the chaos of campaign law enforcement.
4. Restore in some measure the confidence of citizens in the good faith and integrity of the system under which they live.

In reference to President Nixon's call for a special commission to study reforming campaign finance laws, Stevenson said more deliberation is not needed. He prefers action—Congressional action.

State trauma center program has mushroomed

Copley News Service
Springfield—In a little under two years, the Illinois trauma center program has mushroomed to that today any person injured in an accident will probably be within 25 miles of a hospital capable of giving him appropriate, life-saving care.

John Nance, assistant administrator of the division of emergency medical services and highway safety in the Department of Public Health, said the program now has 39 participating trauma centers scattered through the state, with three more still to be named.

In addition three major hospitals in the Chicago area probably will be added to the program as well, because of the population density in that area.

The state's trauma program started statewide in July, 1971. Now, Nance said, it is in the final stages of development, and emphasis is being shifted to expand the emergency medical services concept to provide total care, apart from injuries resulting from highway accidents.

public information in connection with an overall emergency medical services concept, he said.

Area-wide planning will be done, so the patient can get the best help available—that is, if he has a heart attack, he will be taken immediately to the nearest center specializing in treatment of cardiac emergencies, rather than being taken to the nearest hospital or center and losing time in being diagnosed and then re-assigned to the cardiac facility.

The Illinois trauma program has received nationwide attention, and Nance attributed the success of implementing the plan in under two years primarily to the individual trauma coordinators. There is one coordinator at each of the trauma centers. Many of them work 55 to 60 hours weekly, and on occasion have worked as much as 80 hours a week, he said.

Basically, the trauma plan in Illinois centers on getting the patient who has sustained a critical injury to a center where he can be given specialized, concentrated attention by a highly trained staff in a separate facility of the hospital.

Radio communication with the center can direct some medical care initially, while the patient is still en route, and in cases of necessity, a patient from a remote area can be flown by helicopter to the appropriate trauma center, saving time, miles and the possible additional injury or discomfort from surface travel.

Many different kinds of moth larvae and beetles attack cereal products, flour, rice, spaghetti, noodles, certain spices, popcorn and dried dog food.

University of Illinois entomologists report that such insects can be found in packages or containers of dried food and in the cracks and crevices of cabinets.

To help prevent insect infestations, follow these suggestions:

—Buy food in small quantities, so that it will not remain unused for a long period.

—If foods are kept for long periods (a month or more), whenever possible, remove them from their original containers and store them in air-tight glass, metal or plastic containers.

—Store little-used dried food supplies in the refrigerator.

—Avoid spillage in cabinets. Keep food storage spaces clean at all times.

I suspect the presence of insects, remove all packages from your cabinets. Then examine a small amount of food from each package under a bright light for signs of insects, insect damage and insect fragments.

Discard badly infested products. To kill the insects, heat products to 150 degrees F. for 20 minutes or place products in a deep freeze for 72 hours.

After cleaning, but while the cabinets are still empty, spray the entire inside surface lightly with 0.5 percent diazinon, Baygon or Durban, applied from a pressurized spray can.

Remove all food, cooking utensils and dishes from the cabinet area before applying an insecticide. Under no conditions allow diazinon, Baygon, Durban or other insecticide to come into direct contact with foods, cooking utensils, dishes or food-handling surfaces.

Remove nearby foods, or cover them carefully to avoid contamination. Do not replace food stuffs, cooking utensils and dishes until the spray deposit has dried.

The insect residue will kill any insects (twist ends). Do not stir during cleanup, and also will help prevent further infestation for at least a month. Re-line shelves with new shelving paper to protect food and utensils from coming into contact with the treated surface.

Annual pruning is necessary to maintain a compact mound.

All pines produce new shoots (candles) in May and require pruning in June or early July to produce a compact form. Mugho pines require the same treatment to maintain a mound or globe. Clip off the new candles to 3-6 inch stubs to create a uniform plant. Be sure some needles exist on each stub.

When several mugho pines occur in planting, some will grow faster than others. To maintain a more uniform planting, heavily prune the larger plants while others are lightly pruned or go unpruned.

Severe pruning can reduce the size of large plants. Remove individual limbs to a cluster (whorl) of lower limbs to produce a uniform shape. Occasional cuts will require removing 2-3 wheels of limbs while most will involve removing the central shoot to the first whorl of limbs.

Do the severe pruning first. Clip back the new candles after the severe pruning to produce a uniform shape. "Holes" produced by the severe pruning will disappear in a year or two.

New shoots near the major cuts as well as shoots from the pruned candles will conceal the holes.

Oak-apple gall is the grape-sized green gall on many pin oaks. The gall is caused by a small wasp.

In late April the wasp injects the leaves with a growth stimulant and the green gall develops with the wasp larva inside. In late June the galls dry up when the larva leaves the gall.

Control is not recommended because the injury seems unimportant to the tree. The occurrence of the wasp varies each year and may seem to disappear after a severe season. This year they were severe on some trees and common on most trees.

Prune rambling roses to promote growth

By WAYNE B. SIEFERT
Area Extension Adviser-Ornamental Horticulture

Spring blooming rambling roses should be pruned after bloom to promote next year's flowers.

Immediately remove the canes which flowered this spring. Remove each cane by pruning off sections of the cane to a vigorous new shoot near the crown.

Where large bushes occur, completely remove the rose from the trellis. After pruning off old wood, fasten young developing shoots to trellis or fence with soft string or paper coated wires (twist ends). Do not stir during cleanup, and also will help prevent further infestation for at least a month. Re-line shelves with new shelving paper to protect food and utensils from coming into contact with the treated surface.

Change procedure in handling adoptions

All infant adoptions and services to unmarried parents previously provided in a four-county area by the Illinois Department of Children and Family Services are now being handled by the Illinois Children's Home and Aid Society.

Jack Donahue, director of the East St. Louis region of Children and Family Services, said the agreement with the Alton branch of the society is expected to result in more effective services in Madison, Bond, St. Clair and Monroe counties.

Donahue said the state's workers will concentrate on adoptive placement of older children, while inquiries pertaining to infant adoption and services to unmarried parents will be referred to the Children's Home and Aid Society.

Mary Yowell, head of the ICH&A Alton office, said the society maintains a flexible fee scale which permits service to be given to all, regardless of income.

She said members of her staff will work part-time in the Department's East St. Louis and Edwardsville offices.

Persons needing service should contact the Illinois Department of Children and Family Services at 877 Martin Luther King Drive, East St. Louis, 875-2400, or 116 Hillside Avenue, Edwardsville, 656-8920.

It has been proposed that Venice Township and the Cities of Madison and Venice, Illinois, construct an incinerator to dispose of trash, waste and refuse, and that the cost of construction be shared by these governmental bodies with Venice Township contributing $38,024.00 to the construction. If this project does not take place then this money will be expended for other purposes permitted under the Federal Revenue Sharing Act.

Americans using almost twice as many passports

Americans are traveling in greater numbers than ever. Almost twice as many U.S. travelers applied for passports at post offices during the first ten months of the current fiscal year as compared to the fiscal year ending June 30, 1972. Postmaster W. T. Overbeck said today.

"The 750 post offices participating in the passport program issued 632,340 applications for passports from July 1, 1972, through May 4, 1973," Overbeck said. "This compares with 388,226 applications processed at 700 post offices during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1972."

Postmaster Overbeck said the increase in passport applications at post offices shouldn't be construed as a huge increase in the number of people traveling abroad, although Department of State records show a steady increase in passports issued over the past five years.

The totals for five years: 1968 - 1,753,606; 1969 - 1,759,286; 1970 - 2,079,865; 1971 - 2,311,789; 1972 - 2,605,321.

"Our post office is one of 750 around the nation to accept passport applications as part of a program designed to provide a convenience for U.S. travelers and to reduce the workload at the Department of State's passport office, ten field agencies and federal and state courts which handle applications," he said.

"Apparently, the increase in number of applications received this fiscal year shows that the public is finding the post office a convenient place for this kind of transaction." In Granite City, Postmaster Overbeck said, 67 applications for passports have been received since July 1, 1972. Postmaster Overbeck noted that in the 12-state Central Region, the 213 post offices that participate in the program issued 187,300 applications from July 1, 1972, through May 4, 1973. This compares with 94,717 issued during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1972. Passports cost $12 each for individuals, the same price charged for a joint (family) passport. Postmaster Overbeck said travelers seeking passport applications must apply in person and must be a citizen of the United States. They need two recent head and shoulder photographs not smaller than 2 1/4" by 2 1/4" nor larger than 3" by 3" and either a birth certificate, an old passport, baptismal certificate or naturalization papers. He emphasized that the post office merely accepts applications for passports. They are issued by the Secretary of State, usually within two weeks after application is made.

A. O. Smith marks record sales in first 6 months

For the second straight quarter, A. O. Smith Corp. will report record sales and earnings. L. B. Smith, chairman and chief executive officer, has reported.

Speaking at a luncheon meeting of financial analysts in Boston, Smith estimated profits in the second quarter would be between $6,160,000 and $6,650,000, or from $1.25 to $1.35 per share. In the second quarter of 1972, the company earned $3,469,000, or 70 cents per share. Sales in the second quarter were estimated at $163 million, compared with $129 million last year.

For the first six months of 1973, Smith estimated earnings at between $10,695,000 and $11,150,000, or from $2.17 to $2.27 per share. In the first six months of 1972, the company earned 7,652,000, or $1.55 per share. Sales in the first six months were in the neighborhood of $319 million, compared with $254.6 million last year, Smith said.

Smith pointed out that 31 cents per share in the second quarter of 1973 is a result of the sale of excess land.

In the second quarter, all but one of the company's major businesses will have sales increases over a year ago, and all but two will have profit increases, Smith said.

"This is a clear indication," Smith said, "that our diversification program is paying off."

Profit and sales gains will be registered by the Automotive division, which manufactures automobile and truck frames; the Electric Motor division, which produces motors for the air conditioning and refrigeration industry; the Consumer Products division, which makes water heating equipment; and Armor Elevator, a subsidiary, which supplies passenger and freight elevators and escalators.

A. O. Smith Harvestore Products, Inc., another subsidiary, will show a sales increase, while profits will dip because demand exceeded efficient production capacity. Smith said the subsidiary is in the midst of an expansion program and he expects Harvestore Products to show gains in both sales and profits for the year as a whole.

The Meter Systems division, which produces petroleum metering equipment and service station pumps, will report less sales and profits than a year ago. This is because of the decreasing demand for service station equipment caused by the energy crisis.

"The first half of the year certainly has positioned us for a very good 1973," Smith told the analysts. "The economy seems in relatively good shape despite some uneasiness about its recent rate of growth. All in all, the expectation of continued favorable business momentum, hopefully at a more moderate rate, reinforces our optimism for a good 1973," he concluded.

A. O. Smith, with its subsidiaries, is a widely diversified manufacturer of electric motors, electrical controls, meter system, auto and truck frames, agricultural feed storage and handling systems, water heating equipment, elevators and other products. The company's Granite City plant manufactures auto frames.
